Pakistan Troops Violate Truce, Indians Claim

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Pakistani troops violated the India-Pakistan cease-fire in two widely separated places, the Indian defense ministry charged today.

The ministry said in a communique that Pakistani troops crossed into the Indian controlled part of Kashmir in the north sector Thursday, a few hours after the cease-fire went into effect and that in the southern sector Pakistani rangers attacked an Indian police post.

The attack was repulsed by members of India's armed constabulary at Asutar, about 2 miles northwest of Jaisalmer in the desert-like state, the communique said.

"Pakistani rangers have still to be cleared from a few other places where they made intrusions into our territory," it added. "Necessary steps are being taken."

The communique did not elaborate on what the steps were and there was no mention of any regular army units being involved.

However, both nations have police units whose arms include machine guns and who are practically indistinguishable from army units.

The defense ministry said un-armed Pakistani troops also crossed near Jhangar, about 90 miles north of Jammu, Kashmir's winter capital, and began digging trenches.

The local Indian army commander did not take action and asked the U.N. observers in Kashmir to investigate, the defense ministry said.

U.N. observers have been in Kashmir since the world body established a cease-fire in the disputed state in 1949. They will be bolstered to supervise Thursday's truce which ended 22 days of conflict.

Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri said in a nationwide radio speech earlier "the blackout has been lifted but let us not mistake it for the dawn of peace."

He said Pakistani leaders had talked of a possible "wider conflagration" and he added, "We cannot close our eyes to reality."

President Mohammed Ayub Khan warned Thursday that if the Kashmir problem is not solved, "This continent will again be engulfed in a much wider conflict."

A further shadow over the cease-fire was cast by the threat of sustained guerrilla operations in the Indian-ruled segment of Kashmir.

India's frontier with Communist China was reported quiet today although it was revealed that blood already has been shed in the confrontation with Peking high in the Himalayas.

The Chinese in a broadcast said the bodies of three Indian soldiers have been found in the Dumechele area following a fight last Sunday. India has reported three policemen were missing.

China earlier claimed Indian troops had violated its border in the area and fired on Chinese civilians stationed there. India said the incident had been distorted by Peking to cover up its intrusion.

Chinese troops were reported still a short distance inside Indian territory in one or two spots along the border of Sikkim, an Indian protectorate, and Chinese-ruled Tibet.

At the moment, no U.S. aid is being sent to the two Asian countries whose war over Kashmir was halted by a United Nations-arranged cease-fire Wednesday.

U.S. officials indicated Thursday the aid suspension may stay in effect for some time.

The Senate aid bill is smaller than the House bill in five instances. The Senate went along with its Appropriations Committee and cut $82 million from the development loan program and $10 million in loans under the Alliance for Progress.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Charles Boyer sadly returned from Paris Thursday night — eluding newsmen as he sped away from Los Angeles International Airport — to arrange funeral services for his only son.

Michael Charles Boyer, 21, fired a pistol bullet into his temple, police said. They say it could have been a prank, or perhaps suicide inspired by what young Boyer believed by unrequited love.

Boyer, 66, was making a movie in Paris when his wife telephoned Thursday morning to say their only child was dead.

Boyer had told an interviewer earlier this week in Paris that Michael "was searching," and added: "I'm trying to help him find himself."

The young man's own estimation of himself was given a detective by the girl he loved: "He told me he was a loser, that he had always been a loser, and that if he lost me, he would kill himself."

The girl — Marilyn Campbell, 22, who said Michael wanted to marry her — said the fatal shooting came after she told him she was leaving him. Later, however, she said she meant she was leaving his house, not breaking off the romance.

Director Clarence B. Carey of Jones Commercial High School concluded sadly Thursday:

"Even if a girl wants to be modest, she can't succeed today. The dress designers won't allow it."

All Jones students—about 200—must stand hemline inspection each morning when they report for class. When a Jones girl wears a dress that shows more than half the knee, she is ordered to let the hemline down. Immediately.

FCC Chief Says Summer TV Offers Repeats, Rejects

NEW YORK (AP)—Chairman E. William Henry of the Federal Communications Commission took the television networks to task today for "the steady stream of repeats, rejects and reruns" that fills summer television hours.

He suggested that "the networks' summer siesta should become a summer workshop dedicated to program development and experimentation."

Henry's remarks, in an address to the International Radio and Television Society, cropped up in a discussion of the FCC's proposed regulations to limit to 50 per cent the amount of prime evening television time controlled by the three television networks.

Many critics of the proposal, Henry said, express doubts about the quality of programs that would result from independent producers working with sponsors.

"If you are apprehensive about the quality of programming which would be produced and owned by new people—not associated with a network—consider what you are so reluctant to relinquish," Henry said.

"For example, I wonder how many regular television viewers are satisfied with their summer diet. How many are content with the steady stream of network repeats, rejects and reruns? How many enjoy rehashing yesterday's cud? How many have developed tired television blood, without realizing that it is simply a long, long time from May to September?"

Such programming, he went on, is not only repetitious but "it can be downright disconcerting. Jimmy Dean sings 'White Christmas' in the middle of June; Steve Allen learns a secret in July that was in the newspapers last January; and (one viewer) swears that in a rerun of 'The Defenders' the prisoner was acquitted on grounds of double jeopardy."

This led to Henry's suggestion that summer television be used for experimentation.

Negotiations Resume

NEW YORK (AP) — Negotiations resumed today in an effort to produce a break in the deadlock between the New York Times and the striking AFL-CIO American Newspaper Guild.

U.S. Scoffs as Soviet Condemns Viet Policy

U.S. Planes Rout Reds

600 Guerrillas Reported Slain

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Viet Cong forces, attacking in regimental strength, hit government positions 300 miles north-east of Saigon today. A U.S. spokesman said planes and artillery drove back the Reds with heavy losses.

Vietnamese army sources said 600 guerrillas were killed but government losses were "moderate." The action began Thursday in the jungle hills north of Qui Nhon.

Only Vietnamese forces were engaged in the fighting which raged around the district town of Bong Son 300 miles northeast of Saigon and about 35 miles northeast of the U.S. Army's 1st Cavalry positions at the An Khe Valley.

Small probes were reported against U.S. positions at An Khe Thursday night.

In recent months Binh Dinh Province has been quiet. The regimental-size action that raged along a 20-mile-front came as a surprise to U.S. advisers in Qui Nhon. A Viet Cong regiment numbers roughly 1,000 to 1,500 men.

Combined U.S. and Vietnamese air sorties during the action numbered 58, a U.S. spokesman said. A U.S. Air Force F100 was shot down north of Bong Son but the pilot ejected and was picked up by helicopter.

Vietnamese troops reportedly killed 34 Viet Cong in sharp fighting near Hue, about 60 miles north of Da Nang, the big U.S. air base 380 miles north of Saigon.

U.S. B52 jet bombers blasted the "iron triangle" area 20 miles north of Saigon for the second time this week, a U.S. spokesman said. It was their 31st announced raid of the war.

Soviet Chief Calls For Nuclear Curbs

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Communist party leader, Leonid I. Brezhnev, called today for new efforts to reach an agreement barring the spread of nuclear weapons to non-nuclear powers.

He tied the proposal to a contention that West Germany sooner or later will gain access to nuclear weapons, either through the Atlantic alliance or on its own.

Breznev spoke before 6,000 persons in the Kremlin Palace of Congresses at a meeting with East German Communist chief Walter Ulbricht.

Victim of Hit-Skip Accident Is Missing

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) — It goes into the Ohio Highway Patrol books as a hit-skip traffic accident—even though the patrol knows where the car and driver are.

She said the victim ran from the accident scene—into a field, where it joined other cows.

Mexican 'Agitators' Attack Army Post

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Government soldiers today hunted the remnants of an armed band of 15 to 18 men who attacked an army post in northern Chihuahua State, killing five soldiers and leaving eight of their own dead behind.

The defense ministry described the band as "a group of agitators" and listed two known pro-Communists among the dead in the 1½-hour battle Thursday.

Specifically, McNamara sought authority to designate three National Guard divisions, six brigades and the necessary supporting units as high priority units.

He proposed to build them to full strength by transferring reservists from other units, and to equip and train them to such a state of readiness that they could go into action within a very short time.

He acted without consulting

Congress, which has a political stake in the pride of hometown units. And reservists themselves, with years of peacetime seniority toward retirement, protested bitterly.

Lengthy hearings delayed the consolidation, and Congress finally wrote into the military appropriation bill this month a specific prohibition against such mergers.

Final action on the money bill was delayed for a time while the Defense Department tried to retain at least limited authority for transfers, but the outright ban voted by the Senate prevailed over less restrictive provisions passed originally by the House.

Floods Ruin Midwest Crops

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Torrential rains which have pounded the midcontinent for a week subsided today, but flood waters continued to roll over rich farmland, ruining fall crops in some areas.

Rivers in northern Arkansas spilled over their banks and flowed into low-lying croplands, adding to the crop damage already caused by wind and rain.

Officials feared that damages to cotton, soybeans and rice would total millions of dollars.

The Black River rose above 16 feet in Black Rock, Ark., Thursday and should crest at 18 feet Saturday, four feet above flood stage.

The towns along the river are built on hills and are not endangered by the flood.

The Strawberry River overflowed between Lynn and Strawberry, Ark., closing Arkansas 2 highway.

Heavy rains and high humidity have turned what had appeared to be one of southern Ohio's best tobacco crops into what may be one of the worst.

Officials said the crop could be 10 to 20 per cent below normal.

In Texas, the rains which soaked the state have subsided. The heaviest rains fell in the Austin area. Rainfall up to 10 inches sent the placid little Pedernales River on a 10-foot rise that for a while isolated President Johnson's LBJ Ranch 60 miles west of Austin.

The rain generally was welcomed by Texans, except for farmers with cotton open in the field and other crops unharvested.

In Oklahoma, the Washita River flooded the southern lowlands, but the river was falling. Residents of El Reno, Guthrie and Kingfisher were cleaning up their homes after a brief runoff.

The flood threat abated in Illinois, though the Mississippi River was expected to crest about 3½ feet above flood stage today or Saturday near Quincy. But

THE monthly rain gauge keeps climbing . . .

Russian Plan Labeled 'Old'

Gromyko Demands Troop Withdrawal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union today condemned the United States as an aggressor and demanded the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Viet Nam as a necessary step for peace. The United States promptly labeled the Soviet attack as "stale poetics."

The Soviet position was laid before the U.N. General Assembly by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in a far-reaching policy declaration. U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg replied in a statement at a news conference.

Goldberg called Gromyko's Viet Nam remarks "a restatement of old positions that have never been accepted by any U.N. body." Most U.N. members, he said, are more interested in President Johnson's proposals for unconditional negotiations.

Gromyko laid before the 117-nation assembly several new proposals, including one for a U.N. declaration condemning the interference of one country in the internal affairs of another. He also submitted a draft treaty banning the spread of nuclear weapons to countries not now possessing them.

Goldberg said the United States would study Gromyko's nuclear proposal, but he noted that the United States had already submitted its own draft at Geneva and that it contained all the requirements listed by Gromyko as essential.

Goldberg made no mention of a specific provision in the Soviet draft which would ban the proposed NATO multi-lateral nuclear force.

Referring to the Soviet proposal to restrict interference in the internal affairs of other countries, Goldberg remarked that the assembly had adopted the "uniting for peace" plan in 1949 and that this plan appealed to all nations to avoid such interference. He noted that the Soviet Union voted against it.

"The Soviet Union vigorously condemns the aggression of the

10 Cardinals Due To Assist Pope

NEW YORK (AP)—Pope Paul VI will be accompanied by 10 cardinals when he makes his peace pilgrimage here Oct. 4.

Church sources in New York said Thursday five of the cardinals will be Americans.

The five American cardinals who will travel with the Pope are Richard Cushing of Boston, Francis Spellman of New York, James Francis McIntyre of Los Angeles, Joseph Ritter of St. Louis and Lawrence Shehan of Baltimore.

It also was announced that facilities of three television networks and three independent New York stations would be pooled to provide international coverage of the Pope's visit.

Catholic Women Seek Greater Church Role

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A Roman Catholic feminist group which has been working for equality for women in church attitudes and laws is keeping a hopeful eye on proceedings of the Ecumenical Council.

The St. Joan's International Alliance already has seen one goal attained with the admission of Catholic women observers in 1964 into the council meetings.

But the organization expects years of struggle over its crowning aim of ordained women priests.

Senate Passes Foreign Aid Bill

$3.1 Billion Fund Is Given Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — A virtually intact $3,143,000,000 foreign aid appropriation, last of the year's money measures, has cleared the Senate after just one day of debate.

A bipartisan 59-22 vote Thursday night approved the bill after administration forces beat back a barrage of amendments that sought to trim it. Only one reduction was made, and that amounted to only $50 million.

The bill now goes to a conference committee to compromise the few differences between the versions passed by the House and Senate for the 1966 fiscal year, which started July 1.

The Senate bill is just $142 million less than the amount voted by the House two weeks ago and is $217 million beneath the aid ceiling imposed earlier when Congress passed the foreign aid authorization bill.

The Senate bill contains $1,973,000,000 for economic aid and $1,170,000,000 for military assistance. Apart from aid, the measure also includes $714,188,000 for the Peace Corps and other programs, bringing the total appropriation to $3,857,188,000.

The day's biggest victory for administration forces, captured by Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., was defeat of efforts to cut and end military aid to India and Pakistan.

At the moment, no U.S. aid is being sent to the two Asian countries whose war over Kashmir was halted by a United Nations arranged cease-fire Wednesday.

U.S. officials indicated Thursday the aid suspension may stay in effect for some time.

The Senate aid bill is smaller than the House bill in five instances. The Senate went along with its Appropriations Committee and cut $82 million from the development loan program and $10 million in loans under the Alliance for Progress.

All But One Rap At Sheriff Dropped

CHARDON, Ohio (AP) — A charge that Geauga County Sheriff Louis A. Robusky profited from sale of decoys and badges made by prisoners was quashed Thursday by Common Pleas Judge Roland Pontius.

Two other counts in an indictment returned last month against Robusky were dropped earlier. He now faces only one of the four original charges when he goes on trial before a jury Nov. 15. That is a charge that he conspired to defraud the county by submitting altered records of meals served prisoners.

Robusky's wife, Audrey, indicted with him, is scheduled for jury trial Nov. 1 on charges she presented false bills to the county for prisoners' meals.

2 Scientists Dispute Arid Mars Theory

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two scientists challenged today the view of space agency experts that Mariner 4 photographs may have ruled out the possibility that Mars once had surface water and a denser atmosphere—key requisites for life.

Last July, the space agency, in a report to the White House, said Mariner's photos indicate Mars never had any oceans or other significant bodies of surface water—and that this makes less promising the prospect that life ever existed on the red planet.

The tentative conclusion stemmed from photographic evidence that Mars is pockmarked with craters whose surfaces show little evidence of erosion — whereas erosion would have occurred if there had been lots of water around.

But today, two other researchers came up with a theory that the Martian craters are new compared, say, with those on the earth's moon. Therefore, they say, water could have been present on Mars during the first 3.5 billion years of the planet's history, and then disappeared before the craters were blasted out by meteorites.

Pentagon May Recruit Thousands to Reserve

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon is talking about recruiting thousands of new reservists in what could be a renewal of its battle with Congress for the right to merge Reserve and National Guard units.

The idea is to seek volunteers who would undergo six months of active duty training and complete their six-year military obligation in Reserve or Guard units. These reservists escape the two-year draft but are subject to further active duty if they are needed.

Officials who gave newsmen a broad outline of the plan Thursday said it is needed because Congress blocked plans to beef up some units by the transfer of trained reservists in other units now considered surplus.

They did not go into details, but indicated the Defense Department might be ready to announce formal plans within a week.

The officials, who declined to be named, agreed that the recruitment plan was not particularly efficient in providing manpower, because the six-month

Floods Ruin Midwest Crops

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Torrential rains which have pounded the midcontinent for a week subsided today, but flood waters continued to roll over rich farmland, ruining fall crops in some areas.

Rivers in northern Arkansas spilled over their banks and flowed into low-lying croplands, adding to the crop damage already caused by wind and rain.

Officials feared that damages to cotton, soybeans and rice would total millions of dollars.

The Black River rose above 16 feet in Black Rock, Ark., Thursday and should crest at 18 feet Saturday, four feet above flood stage.

The towns along the river are built on hills and are not endangered by the flood.

The Strawberry River overflowed between Lynn and Strawberry, Ark., closing Arkansas 2 highway.

Heavy rains and high humidity have turned what had appeared to be one of southern Ohio's best tobacco crops into what may be one of the worst.

Officials said the crop could be 10 to 20 per cent below normal.

In Texas, the rains which soaked the state have subsided. The heaviest rains fell in the Austin area. Rainfall up to 10 inches sent the placid little Pedernales River on a 10-foot rise that for a while isolated President Johnson's LBJ Ranch 60 miles west of Austin.

The rain generally was welcomed by Texans, except for farmers with cotton open in the field and other crops unharvested.

In Oklahoma, the Washita River flooded the southern lowlands, but the river was falling. Residents of El Reno, Guthrie and Kingfisher were cleaning up their homes after a brief runoff.

The flood threat abated in Illinois, though the Mississippi River was expected to crest about 3½ feet above flood stage today or Saturday near Quincy. But

Mexican 'Agitators' Attack Army Post

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Government soldiers today hunted the remnants of an armed band of 15 to 18 men who attacked an army post in northern Chihuahua State, killing five soldiers and leaving eight of their own dead behind.

The defense ministry described the band as "a group of agitators" and listed two known pro-Communists among the dead in the 1½-hour battle Thursday.

It also was announced that facilities of three television networks and three independent New York stations would be pooled to provide international coverage of the Pope's visit.

Catholic Women Seek Greater Church Role

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A Roman Catholic feminist group which has been working for equality for women in church attitudes and laws is keeping a hopeful eye on proceedings of the Ecumenical Council.

The St. Joan's International Alliance already has seen one goal attained with the admission of Catholic women observers in 1964 into the council meetings.

But the organization expects years of struggle over its crowning aim of ordained women priests.

Russian Plan Labeled 'Old'

Gromyko Demands Troop Withdrawal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union today condemned the United States as an aggressor and demanded the withdrawal of U.S. forces from Viet Nam as a necessary step for peace. The United States promptly labeled the Soviet attack as "stale polemics."

The Soviet position was laid before the U.N. General Assembly by Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko in a far-reaching policy declaration. U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg replied in a statement at a news conference.

Goldberg called Gromyko's Viet Nam remarks "a restatement of old positions that have never been accepted by any U.N. body." Most U.N. members, he said, are more interested in President Johnson's proposals for unconditional negotiations.

Gromyko laid before the 117-nation assembly several new proposals, including one for a U.N. declaration condemning the interference of one country in the internal affairs of another. He also submitted a draft treaty banning the spread of nuclear weapons to countries not now possessing them.

Goldberg said the United States would study Gromyko's nuclear proposal, but he noted that the United States had already submitted its own draft at Geneva and that it contained all the requirements listed by Gromyko as essential.

Goldberg made no mention of a specific provision in the Soviet draft which would ban the proposed NATO multi-lateral nuclear force.

Referring to the Soviet proposal to restrict interference in the internal affairs of other countries, Goldberg remarked that the assembly had adopted the "uniting for peace" plan in 1949 and that this plan appealed to all nations to avoid such interference. He noted that he Soviet Union voted against it.

"The Soviet Union vigorously condemns the aggression of the

It also was announced that facilities of three television networks and three independent New York stations would be pooled to provide international coverage of the Pope's visit.

United States in Viet Nam," Gromyko said.

He declared that the Soviet people are solidly behind the Communist Viet Cong and warned that continuation of the U.S. military intervention could have serious results.

"If, for some reason, Washington does not ask itself what the continuation of aggression against the Vietnamese people can lead to in the long run," he said, "we can only say that this is a big mistake. This question is one which should be posed there."

He said there is a way out of the Viet Nam conflict.

The way, he went on, had already been outlined by the Viet Cong and Communist North Viet Nam—an end of the U.S. bombings and return to the Geneva agreement of 1954.

"The war has been brought to Viet Nam from across the ocean," he said. "So in order to put an end to it, the troops of the United States and their accomplices in aggression must leave territory which is not theirs and remove their armaments."

On other subjects Gromyko: —Proposed a new item on the assembly's agenda on "the inadmissibility of interference in domestic affairs" of countries, including a declaration on this subject by the assembly. This apparently was aimed at the U.S. role in Viet Nam.

—Called for a world disarmament conference to be held in Geneva in mid-1966.

—Proposed a new assembly item on the non-dissemination of nuclear weapons, including a draft treaty on that subject.

—Urged the seating of Red China in the United Nations.

Concerning the India-Pakistan conflict, Gromyko declared that neither of the countries could gain by pursuing military actions, but he added that there are "third parties who would see advantages for themselves in India and Pakistan getting bogged down still deeper in mutual enmity, for this would weaken each one of them and make them prone to foreign influence."

He did not amplify, but this apparently was a reference to Peking's recent ultimatum to India.

Diplomats will study the tone of the speech, including the intensity of any attacks, for a sign as to the mood which will prevail during the current assembly session.

Goldberg set the stage for a full Viet Nam debate by dealing with the issue at length. His slashing attack on the Peking government made it doubly difficult for the other Communist countries to avoid a reply — even though they may not agree with Red Chinese policies.

The U.S. chief delegate mentioned the Soviet Union only once or twice in his hour-long speech and these references were not critical. He simply referred to U.S. and Soviet disarmament proposals.

Goldberg also has praised the Soviet Union publicly for its cooperation on the peace moves made by the Security Council in connection with the India-Pakistan conflict.

This cooperation, in fact, has been the subject of criticism by the Chinese Communists. A broadcast by the official New China News Agency accused the United States and the Soviet Union of a conspiracy in the Security Council and referred to "the U.S.-Soviet duet."

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Southern Ohio's tobacco harvest may be as much as 25 per cent below normal this fall because of the wet weather, officials and farmers say.

Recent heavy rains and continuing high humidity have caused the tobacco to rot in the fields and in curing barns in the counties along the Ohio River.

Tobacco is not usually considered a major crop in Ohio, but the U. S. Agriculture Department office at Lexington, Ky., reports last year the Buckeye State produced 9,725,784 pounds of tobacco that sold for $5,620,201. A tobacco crop can bring up to $1,500 an acre.

—Proposed a new assembly item on the non-dissemination of nuclear weapons, including a draft treaty on that subject.

—Urged the seating of Red China in the United Nations.

Concerning the India-Pakistan conflict, Gromyko declared that neither of the countries could gain by pursuing military actions, but he added that there are "third parties who would see advantages for themselves in India and Pakistan getting bogged down still deeper in mutual enmity, for this would weaken each one of them and make them prone to foreign influence."

He did not amplify, but this apparently was a reference to Peking's recent ultimatum to India.

Diplomats will study the tone of the speech, including the intensity of any attacks, for a sign as to the mood which will prevail during the current assembly session.

Goldberg set the stage for a full Viet Nam debate by dealing with the issue at length. His slashing attack on the Peking government made it doubly difficult for the other Communist countries to avoid a reply — even though they may not agree with Red Chinese policies.

The U.S. chief delegate mentioned the Soviet Union only once or twice in his hour-long speech and these references were not critical. He simply referred to U.S. and Soviet disarmament proposals.

Goldberg also has praised the Soviet Union publicly for its cooperation on the peace moves made by the Security Council in connection with the India-Pakistan conflict.

This cooperation, in fact, has been the subject of criticism by the Chinese Communists. A broadcast by the official New China News Agency accused the United States and the Soviet Union of a conspiracy in the Security Council and referred to "the U.S.-Soviet duet."

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. William B. Saxbe of Ohio has urged the Supreme Court to deny a hearing to Dr. Samuel Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath sentenced to life imprisonment in the 1954 slaying of his wife.

Counsel for Sheppard has submitted an appeal to the high tribunal contending that pretrial publicity made a fair trial impossible. The high court is expected to make known next month whether it will rule on the new appeal. In 1956 the court refused to review Sheppard's trial.

GEORGETOWN, Ohio (AP)—Southern Ohio's tobacco harvest may be as much as 25 per cent below normal this fall because of the wet weather, officials and farmers say.

Recent heavy rains and continuing high humidity have caused the tobacco to rot in the fields and in curing barns in the counties along the Ohio River.

Tobacco is not usually considered a major crop in Ohio, but the U. S. Agriculture Department office at Lexington, Ky., reports last year the Buckeye State produced 9,725,784 pounds of tobacco that sold for $5,620,201. A tobacco crop can bring up to $1,500 an acre.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Former Dominican President Juan Bosch returns here Saturday and observers fear the move could heighten tensions in this divided city.

Bosch has not said whether he will run for president in the elections due next May.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Any one born in the past 25 years probably takes the American social revolution for granted. He grew up with it and in his lifetime it was always there and always, although slowly, going on.

Yet, what has happened just this year in Washington would have been unthinkable, before the revolution began, when the country was drowned in a depression.

President Herbert Hoover will probably always be a symbol of the moment in history when the old attitudes came up against the new necessities of American life, and the old melted away.

Hoover did more than any president up to that time to use government resources to fight economic disaster, but he couldn't shake off the philosophy of the era in which he grew up and all the eras before it.

He couldn't reconcile himself to the thought that the government should provide direct relief for the unemployed.

President Grover Cleveland in 1887 had expressed the philosophy that was prevalent through most of American history:

"I do not believe that the power and duty of the federal government ought to be expended to the relief of individual suffering which is in no manner properly related to the public service or benefit."

"The lesson should be constantly enforced that, though the people support the government, the government should not support the people."

The new era began in earnest in 1935 with the passage of the Social Security Act, which was the foot in the door for all that followed, and the Labor Relations Act compelling employers to bargain with unions of their employees.

The last big measure of the New Deal came in 1938 with the law that created the 40-hour week, overtime for hours worked over 40, and a minimum wage, small as it was.

Those measures of President Franklin D. Roosevelt were approved and expanded and new dimensions of government responsibility for the general welfare were added under Presidents Harry S. Truman, Dwight D. Eisenhower, and John F. Kennedy.

But the steps taken this year under President Johnson and a heavily Democratic Congress show how far the nation has gone down the road of federal responsibility in many fields.

Congress will pass a measure providing college scholarships for needy students, the first time in history, and this year Congress has already approved a $1.3-billion school aid bill, the broadest ever for grade and high schools.

It is keyed to a goal of improving education in poverty-stricken areas but also include indirect benefits for private and parochial school students.

Congress also passed a four-year, $7-billion omnibus housing bill that continues urban renewal and slum clearance, expansion of low-rent housing, and a new program of federal rent subsidies for people who cannot afford standard private housing.

Congress not only broadened health and welfare programs but for the first time provided for medical care for people 65 and older through Social Security.

And the new civil rights law lets the government move into the states to protect citizens' voting rights in a way never attempted before, such as tearing up voting tests under certain conditions.

These are only part of the flood of measures which have poured through this Congress in such quantity and speed and with such little fuss that the general public has almost taken them as routine. It's an accepted way of life now.

If anyone doubts it, all he has to do is remember the 1964 election and what happened of the conservative Barry Goldwater and the conservative Republican party in general.

At the same time more and more power is being centralized in Washington, less in the states. This is a matter of concern to many. But they can't have it both ways. Government help means government responsibility and control.

Views on Television — Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television's top secret is now being revealed gradually to the nation's viewers. The medium which a few seasons back was described as a "vast wasteland," this season has become a vast playpen.

The adult viewer at 9 p.m. will find that almost every program on the three major networks earlier than that on almost every night in the week is tailored for the kiddy audience.

NBC's "Daniel Boone" tried comedy Thursday night with unhappy results. The story centered on a foot race to be run between representatives of the whites in a wilderness settlement and the folk invariably referred to on the program as "Injuns."

Dan'l, as he is called can run like a deer, of course, but has a sprained ankle, so he picked a reluctant boy and trained him to be lightfooted by fitting his

Painesville 'Bear' Turns Out as Dog

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — The biggest threat to residents of Madison Township Thursday was not the "bear" that was reported roaming the area, but a neighborhood posse that turned out to hunt the creature, according to township police.

The posse combed the area, carrying rifles and shotguns, until police called off the search. The police chief told posse members that a state game warden had tracks where the "bear" was seen by a housewife.

The tracks had been made by a dog, the chief said.

boots with horseshoes.

The high point of the program was supposed to be the race. But for this viewer, the big moment came when Dan'l's sidekick, Mingo, a learned Injun, observed that the sprained ankle gave the other side "a psychological advantage."

My recollection was that the real Dan'l was around during the Revolutionary War — he died in 1820. "Psychological advantages" came with psychoanalysis many years later.

Even without such anachronisms, the show has to be a crashing bore to anyone over the age of seven.

A bit later — 9 p.m. — when ABC obviously assumes children are safely tucked in for the night — the comedy "Bewitched" came up with a half-hour dedicated to a description of symptoms connected with pregnancy.

This witch Samantha is married to a normal, average American fellow and they are going to have a baby. For reasons not clear, his sorceress mother-in-law put a spell on Darrin, giving him all the discomforts of impending motherhood — nausea, back pains and a taste for pickles.

That "bewitched" baby is not scheduled to arrive until February and if this sort of thing keeps up, the show will be pretty tiresome until then.

"My Three Sons," which switched networks, turned up on CBS in color.

Now that the eldest of the three sons has departed from the cast, star Fred MacMurray is adopting a little orphan. The new boy is pathetic and appealing. And when things settle down, "My Three Sons" will have two lovable dogs in the east.

3 Veteran Actresses Tied To New Hollywood Film

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Instead of the usual stage-door sign of "no visitors," the notice outside the set of "Mother Superior" reads: "Smile quietly."

That gives an inkling of what is inside. Beyond the door is a platoon of movie nuns, plus a real one, the technical adviser, who is constantly getting such comments as, "Are you in the next scene honey?"

The tone of congeniality is set by the director, who also happens to be a woman, Ida Lupino. The unflappable Ida manages the most difficult scenes with ease, calling everyone in sight "sweetie" or "darling."

"I'm having a ball, sweetie," she told a reporter, "but it's a far cry from the 'Gunsmoke' and other TV Westerns I'm usually directing. It's much easier to say, bring the horses in from the right."

An assistant approached with a problem. "What is it, darling?" Ida inquired, retiring to settle a production difficulty.

One of the movie nuns looked familiar, although she was difficult to recognize with only her face peering out from her habit. When she spoke there could be no doubt: It was Binnie Barnes.

"My voice always gives me away," she admitted. "Salespeople may not recognize me, but when I speak, they say, 'Oh, yes, Miss Barnes.'"

The Barnes voice will be heard in a Hollywood movie for the first time in 17 years. Oddly enough, her return to the screen was unrelated to the fact that she is the boss's wife. Binnie is married to Mike Frankovich, production head of Columbia Pictures, which is sponsoring "Mother Superior."

"Mike didn't want me to go back to work," said Binnie. "He thinks it would be better if I stayed at home."

"Well, that was all right when the kids were growing up. But now they've grown, and what have I got to do? I never was much of a luncheon woman. I need something to keep my mind alive, and this seemed like an excellent opportunity. I don't have a lot of lines to learn, or any elaborate hairdos or make-ups."

Besides, she added, there are her fellow workers. Ida she has known for years. As for Hayley Mills, Binnie appeared opposite her father, John Mills, in "Cavalcade" back in the early 1930s.

Then there is Ro. Rosalind Russell, mother superior herself, happened along at the time. "Of course Binnie should work," Ro said.

The two ladies reminisced about when they had worked together last. It was in "This Thing Called Love," also for Columbia.

"I remember it because Mike and I got married before it was over," said Binnie. "The picture was a couple of days late so we couldn't plan a wedding. We had

Letters People Seldom Receive

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Letters people would like to get but rarely do:

"Sir, it has come to our attention that your son, Johnny, can wiggle both ears while whistling rock 'n' roll tunes. This is the kind of folk talent we wish to feature in a series of advertisements promoting our new product, 'Burpcola.' If the little lad would be interested in a financial reward that would easily pay his way later through college, please bring him to—"

"George, I have put on so much weight during my visit to mother's that I have given up all thought of wanting you to surprise me with a fur coat for Christmas this year. I would make me look much too heavy. So, if there's anything you'd like to get yourself with the money you've saved up, go right ahead."

"Dad, remember the boy friend I brought home during our vacation from school last spring? You know, the one who ate so much and who you thought was so smart aleck because he tried to tell you how to run your business? Well, he flunked out of school this semester, and the draft board grabbed him—so I guess I won't be seeing him for at least a couple of years."

"As the largest music publishers in the field, naturally we get hundreds of songs from amateur writers each week. Most of them are trash. But the ditty submitted by your daughter, Mazda, called 'Let Me Hold My Ears' looks to use like a sure-fire hit."

"As a dentist, I can well realize your dismay at facing a bill of $1,500 for a pair of upper and lower dentures. Well, what was my shock on restudying the X-ray plates of your mouth to discover you are budding a third set of perfect teeth."

"Sir, I am the motorcycle patrolman who gave you a ticket for speeding on the highway last week. You claimed you were only going 40, and that I must be crazy. Well, sir, most motorists accuse me of that. But when I got back to my barracks, a check showed my speedometer was broken. So I guess it wasn't me that was crazy—just my speedometer. Anyway, you can tear up the ticket, and hope there are no hard feelings."

"Keep this under your hat, mister, but while I was drilling that well for your mountain cabin the drill came up with a lot of bright metal fragments colored yellow. I bought 10 acres on each side of you, and had the metal assayed."

"The report just came back. Well, to put it in a nutshell, Pal, me and you are sitting on a new Fort Knox!"

LAFF-A-DAY

"I always throw a pinch of salt over my shoulder for good luck."

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP) — The $46.88-billion defense appropriation shows Americans what they'll be spending in the current fiscal year for guns. Rising prices on some basic consumer items and expectations of still higher charges for some industrial products gives a hint of how much they'll be spending for butter.

The economy has grown so tremendous that for the time being it can provide plenty of both guns and butter.

But in banking circles there's still worry about just how much faster the economic pace can be without overheating. That is, how long can pressures for the current inflationary bulge be contained?

The $1.7-billion that Congress just voted as a start on paying for an increased war won't in itself upset the balance the economy has maintained in its nonstop growth into a fifth year. But it adds just that much more to the pressures that many see building up his fall.

And prices are rising here and there. This is especially true in the field of industrial materials.

It's also true of some consumer goods and services.

More companies are talking about their need to raise prices to meet rising production costs. Many haven't done much along this line yet because their industries still have surplus capacity which makes competition between companies keen. Mechanization, too, has increased productivity by cutting the number of man hours needed to turn out a product, and this helps hold prices in balance.

But as production swells, idle capacity dwindles. And as production costs go up — higher wages scales, costlier raw materials — the time may be approaching for many companies when they can raise prices on their goods and make the increases stick.

The rise this year in defense spending fits into the picture this way: It is just another of the stimulants for greater industrial activity, and that means more jobs, more spending money, higher profits. All these things provide the markets in which to sell products even if their price tags are higher.

On the more technical side, bankers also watch this year's increase in the demand for bank loans. Business is in an expansionary mood, and that with increased government spending, builds up pressure.

There's a good chance that price rises apparently just ahead, and government spending that seems sure to go on increasing, won't upset an economy as clear and sober-minded as the current one.

But the conservatives insist the pressures are there, and need watching.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE — We welcome letters to the editor. In order to be considered for publication, they must bear the correct name and address of the writer. Anonymous letters and those signed with the request that signatures be withheld will not be accepted for publication. Opinions expressed in this column are those of the writers and not necessarily those of The Herald.

To The Editor:

This is in reply to the letter of the R. W. Listons to the effect that the garden editor claimed they were poor gardeners.

The garden editor made no such claims. This should be obvious since she did not see the property until 13 months after the Listons moved away from it.

Most can realize that 13 months absence from the property would absolve the former owners from blame for what intervened in the meantime.

On Sept. 9 an article appeared in The Herald concerning the Sanguilys' garden adventures during their first year in their new home.

It was to have been a heartwarming story of the tribulations and triumphs, the woes and successes of a young couple and their first garden.

The garden editor was not surprised when she heard about a weedy lawn, ailing roses and overgrown shrubs. These are chronic problems — run-of-the-mill woes of every gardener.

Only constant vigilance keeps them under control. A garden may change calamitously in a period of two weeks.

If the young Sanguilys had a bout with rose disease, if they found weeds in their lawn and if in their opinion their shrubs were overgrown it was their problem and certainly no reflection on the former owners. It was nothing to be secretive about.

The story should have been a heartwarming one. It had all the necessary ingredients. Somehow it angled off in the wrong direction so that the former owners felt they were involved.

Now when a story does this nobody is more heartless than its writer. That an article can be so grossly misconstrued tends to be proof of poor writing.

However, it was an honest report and a true representation of facts.

Anyway, you have missed a shining hour if you have not had a personally escorted tour by the young Sanguilys through their garden.

It was that shining hour that the garden editor had hoped to convey to her readers. You have missed something if you have not heard the doctor tell about his weeds or seen him gazing rapturously into the heart of one of his well grown roses.

AT THE AGE of eighty, Aaron Burr was still openly flirting with the more comely girls in his village of Harlem. One day the postmaster there was astonished to see Mrs. Burr drive up in an open carriage, brandishing two formidable horse-pistols. "What do you wish, Madam?" quavered the postmaster. "What do I wish?" cried Mrs. Burr. "Let me get at that villain Aaron Burr!"

TWO HISTORICAL FOOTNOTES:

When George IV of England sailed forth in 1795 to marry his cousin, Princess Caroline of Brunswick, he gallantly kissed her hand, then recoiling, ordered his aide in a stage whisper, "For God's sake, man, fetch me a glass of brandy!"

James Boswell once pointed out to his patron saint, Samuel Johnson, that there was no record of a beggar ever dying for want in the streets of Scotland. "I believe you are right," admitted Johnson, "but this does not arise from the want of beggars, but the impossibility of starving a Scotsman!"

Parson Goodenough pulled his organist aside and whispered, "I'm now about to ask every member of the congregation prepared to contribute ten dollars to my new television series to stand up. Meanwhile, I want you to play an appropriate tune." "Like what?" asked the organist. "Like 'The Star Spangled Banner,'" answered the parson.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

Is ptomaine poisoning the same as food poisoning?

Although ptomaine poisoning is popularly classed as food poisoning, there is a technical difference.

Ptomaines are poisons that are derived from decayed animal matter. These are very toxic when eaten and produce the common symptoms typical of food poisoning.

Food poisoning is an intestinal attack that results from eating foods containing poisonous substances.

True food poisoning includes illnesses resulting from spoiled shellfish, inedible mushrooms, foods contaminated by insecticide, milk from cows that have eaten poisonous plants, and food spoiled by inadequate refrigeration, particularly custards and mayonnaise dishes.

What are the symptoms of food poisoning?

The onset is abrupt, and is readily recognized when a group of people have the same symptoms after eating the same food.

Headaches, fever, muscle aches, accompanied by nausea, vomiting, severe diarrhea and abdominal cramps are typical symptoms that may occur within 10 to 48 hours after contaminated food has been eaten.

What is the difference between food poisoning and an intestinal virus?

Intestinal flu, or intestinal virus, differs from food poisoning in that it is a dysentery usually caused by eating raw foods that are contaminated by a food handler who has inadequately cleaned his hands before serving food.

Are there any other causes of food poisoning?

Yes. Allergic sensitivity to certain foods may produce severe stomach and intestinal upsets. The common offenders may be milk, pork, strawberries, melon, or seafood to which an individual is hypersensitive.

Drug poisonings and dietary indiscretions may also produce symptoms of food poisoning.

Alcoholic overindulgence is a common reason for stomach and intestinal disturbances. Bacterial toxins from botulism, Salmonella and typhoid germs produce some of the most severe symptoms of food poisoning.

The distinction between forms of poisoning takes a great deal of study and microscopic examination of the blood, the stool, and even the stomach contents.

What are the home remedies for the relief of food poisoning?

All of these symptoms need carefully planned help by a physician. Do not use cathar-

U.S. Resolution Irks Latin Nations

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Some Latin-American countries have reacted angrily to a resolution passed by the U. S. House of Representatives approving the use of force in any American nation threatened by a Communist take-over.

The congresses of both Peru and Colombia passed unanimous resolutions of their own condemning it. Newspapers from left to right were hostile and there has been no favorable comment.

The U.S. resolution said "acts possessing characteristics of aggression and intervention carried out against one or more of the member states of the Organization of American States may be responded to either in individual or collective form, which could go as far as resort to armed force."

Bogus Bills Appear In Athens Area Again

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Three bogus $10 bills and one counterfeit $20 bill turned up in an Athens bank Thursday, authorities reported.

The $20 bill bore the same serial number as bogus $20s passed in July in Logan and Athens, police said.

Police said they were checking with Ashland, Ky., police about two men held there on charges of passing bogus $20 bills to see if they might be responsible for the counterfeits found here.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

It's Not Necessary!

DEAR ABBY: A woman and I were talking and something came up I'd like your opinion on. This woman and her husband seem to be a happily married couple. In the course of our conversation she said that her husband tells her EVERYTHING. I didn't know her well enough to start an argument with her, so I changed the subject.

Abby, do you think a husband should tell his wife EVERYTHING? And how about a wife telling her husband EVERYTHING?

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: I think a man and wife should tell each other things that are interesting, amusing, helpful or of mutual concern. A compulsion to spill EVERYTHING is a conversational catharsis that most marriages could do without.

DEAR ABBY: This problem has undoubtedly come into the lives of other divorced couples, but I have never seen it in your column. I have been divorced for almost three years. I was separated from my wife for eight months before that. I went with my present wife for two years before we were married.

The problem is my 15-year-old daughter, who lives with her mother. This girl has it in her head that my present wife kept her mother and me from getting back together. My daughter refuses to come to our home or have anything to do with us. I have told her repeatedly (and truthfully) that my wife had absolutely nothing to do with my divorcing her mother, and we would not have reconciled regardless. She refuses to believe it. Why? My wife is a fine person and it hurts her as much as it hurts me that my daughter takes this attitude. I love my daughter and would do anything to have her friendly with us. Can anything be done to convince her?

HER FATHER

DEAR FATHER: No one is so blind as he who does not want to see. Your daughter probably justifies her attitude out of what she believes is "loyalty" to her mother, who could have planted the seeds of doubt in the first place. If you can't get the girl's mother to cooperate in an appeal to your daughter now, you may have to try later when the girl is more intellectually independent and mature.

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would say a word to working mothers (I do not mean divorcees or widows), but those women who leave with the men every morning while their children get themselves off to school and then come home to an empty house.

I am 31 and have two sisters. Our mother always worked. She didn't have to, although she claimed she worked to give us girls the extra "luxuries." The greatest luxury she could have given us would have been a mother at home to guide us. She is now 57, still works every day and overtime on Saturday. I think if they offered her double on Christmas Day, she'd take it.

If this changes the thinking of just one mother, who decided that now that her children are in school all day they don't "need" her so she can go to work, it will be worth a lot. Children need a mother who will listen to THEM. Not one who comes home with frayed nerves complaining about the people SHE has to listen to all day.

Society's Hothouse Honey Offered Posh New Resort

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — They call it the "Greenhouse," a posh sanatorium for the hothouse honeys of the social set. For $600, a woman can buy herself a week of relaxation, low-calorie food, exercise, beauty tips and treatment, and all-around pampering at the $2-million resort which opened near here this week.

A two-week stay, which is recommended for maximum benefits, costs $1,100.

"It's much too reasonable," insisted Mollie Cullum, manager, at a preview for the nation's women's editors. "You couldn't do it in a top-flight hotel for the price."

Fully air-conditioned, the white brick building's focal point is a courtyard pool with water temperature kept precisely at 97 degrees.

Bridal Shower Given for Miss Hoffman

Miss Ann Hoffman, bride-elect of Mr. Donald Miller was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower given by Sharma Callahan, Norma Troutman, Susan Warner and Jill Jenkins in the Jenkins residence, 353 E. Watt St.

Gifts were placed on a table decorated with a purple and blue umbrella and streamers. The refreshment table was centered with a bridal doll and blue flowers.

Games were conducted and prizes won by Mrs. L. W. Hoffman, Mrs. Donald Miller and Mrs. Leroy Hagen. The door prize was won by Mrs. Donald Leist.

Other guests attending were: Sheryl Wood, Margie Cook, Pam Speakman, Ginger Young, Cheryl Jenkins and Diana Wise.

Gifts were sent by, Jane Abbott, Linda Benzenberg, Teresa Jackson, Sandy Shellhammer, Mrs. Allen Harper, Sharon Moore, Anita Clendenen, Mrs. Donald Rowland, Page Miller and Mrs. Paul Hill.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gatwood and family, Circleville, entertained recently with a carry-in dinner honoring Mrs. Elsie Murrette of Fredrick, Okla., and Miss Kathleen Dumm of Lawton, Okla. Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Murrette of Circleville and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bainter and Mrs. Jay Karshner, Laurelville.

Wednesday Meeting Set by Guild 43

Mrs. Robert Edgington and Mrs. Charles King will be hostesses when members of Berger Hospital Guild No. 43 meet 8 p. m. Wednesday in the guild room.

Texas sunlight pours through a two-story glass ceiling onto the white marble courtyard floors. Private bedrooms rim the courtyard on the main floor and around the balcony.

Baskets of beonias, vines and ferns hang from the ceiling. Palm trees grow in gigantic pots.

Carpeted corridors off one end of the courtyard lead to exercise rooms, a sauna, herb baths, a beauty salon and massage rooms. A sunken dining room looks out on the pool. A drawing room, library and card room are located in the front of the building.

Mrs. Cullum, an ebullient housemother type with international social connections, oversees a staff of 55. The staff includes a Swedish masseuse, French and German facial experts and a dance specialist who heads the exercise corps.

The big selling point is relaxation and getting away from it all.

"We've got to counteract the pressure from the big cities," Betty Richardson, salon manager, said.

Once in the greenhouse, she said, "the women aren't allowed off the grounds."

The depressurization begins each day with breakfast in bed. Breakfast consists of fruit, black coffee and a slice of melba toast.

Meals are designed to make the customers shed six pounds a week. Alcohol is absolutely ruled out.

After breakfast, the women don saffron terry cloth robes and blue exercise suits and head for phase one of their daily programs.

The program varies from day to day, Mrs. Richardson said, because "we're afraid the women would get bored with the same schedule."

However, in whatever order, the day will include an hour's session with the masseuse, exercises for muscle tone and posture in the pool and in special rooms, facials and hair treatments. Trips to the sauna and herb bath, lessons on make-up and nail care are interspersed in the daily routine.

After work, the women can meet in the dining room for a low-calorie candlelight dinner. However, group eating is not required.

Optional evening activities are planned, including lectures and guest speakers, dance instruction, gift wrap instruction, movies and one shopping trip into town.

Although definite schedules are set up, the women may skip any part of the program.

"We're going to advise them, but we are not going to tell them what to do," Mrs. Richardson said. "They don't come here to be bossed."

The place is operated by Neuman-Marcus, the Dallas department store known for its variety of merchandise ranging from $17,000 leopard coats to his-and-her submarines.

GC Members Discuss Various Plans

Members of the Roundtown Garden Club spent the evening planning programs for the coming year when they met recently in the home of Mrs. Robert Hettinger, 547 E. Main St.

Roll call was answered by each member naming a variety of nut. Mrs. Merle Swank, vice-president, conducted the business session. A letter was read from the Circleville Child Conservation League explaining the Child Welfare Scholarship Fund in Pickaway County and the importance of supporting this fund.

The group also discussed money-making projects for the year. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Harold Pontius.

Dear Abby: It's Not Necessary!

DEAR ABBY: A woman and I were talking and something came up I'd like your opinion on. This woman and her husband seem to be a happily married couple. In the course of our conversation she said that her husband tells her EVERYTHING. I didn't know her well enough to start an argument with her, so I changed the subject.

Abby, do you think a husband should tell his wife EVERYTHING? And how about a wife telling her husband EVERYTHING?

DEAR ABBY: This problem has undoubtedly come into the lives of other divorced couples, but I have never seen it in your column. I have been divorced for almost three years. I was separated from my wife for eight months before that. I went with my present wife for two years before we were married.

The problem is my 15-year-old daughter, who lives with her mother. This girl has it in her head that my present wife kept her mother and me from getting back together. My daughter refuses to come to our home or have anything to do with us. I have told her repeatedly (and truthfully) that my wife had absolutely nothing to do with my divorcing her mother, and we would not have reconciled regardless. She refuses to believe it. Why? My wife is a fine person and it hurts her as much as it hurts me that my daughter takes this attitude. I love my daughter and would do anything to have her friendly with us. Can anything be done to convince her?

DEAR FATHER: No one is so blind as he who does not want to see. Your daughter probably justifies her attitude out of what she believes is "loyalty" to her mother, who could have planted the seeds of doubt in the first place. If you can't get the girl's mother to cooperate in an appeal to your daughter now, you may have to try later when the girl is more intellectually independent and mature.

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would say a word to working mothers (I do not mean divorcees or widows), but those women who leave with the men even-

Society's Hothouse Honey Offered Posh New Resort

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — They call it the "Greenhouse," a two-story glass ceiling onto the white marble courtyard floors. Private bedrooms rim the courtyard on the main floor and around the balcony.

Baskets of beonias, vines and ferns hang from the ceiling. Palm trees grow in gigantic pots.

Carpeted corridors off one end of the courtyard lead to exercise rooms, a sauna, herb baths, a beauty salon and massage rooms. A sunken dining room looks out on the pool. A drawing room, library and card room are located in the front of the building.

Mrs. Culum, an ebullient housemother type with international social connections, oversees a staff of 55. The staff includes a Swedish masseuse, French and German facial experts and a dance specialist who heads the exercise corps.

The big selling point is relaxation and getting away from it all. "We've got to counteract the pressure from the big cities," Betty Richardson, salon manager, said.

Once in the greenhouse, she said, "the women aren't allowed off the grounds." The depressurization begins each day with breakfast in bed. Breakfast consists of fruit, black coffee and a slice of melba toast.

Meals are designed to make the customers shed six pounds a week. Alcohol is absolutely ruled out.

After breakfast, the women don saffron terry cloth robes and blue exercise suits and head for phase one of their daily programs.

The program varies from day to day, Mrs. Richardson said, because "we're afraid the women would get bored with the same schedule."

However, in whatever order, the day will include an hour's session with the masseuse, exercises for muscle tone and posture in the pool and in special rooms, facials and hair treatments. Trips to the sauna and herb bath, lessons on make-up and nail care are interspersed in the daily routine.

After work, the women can meet in the dining room for a low-calorie candlelight dinner. However, group eating is not required.

Optional evening activities are planned, including lectures and guest speakers, dance instruction, gift wrap instruction, movies and one shopping trip into town.

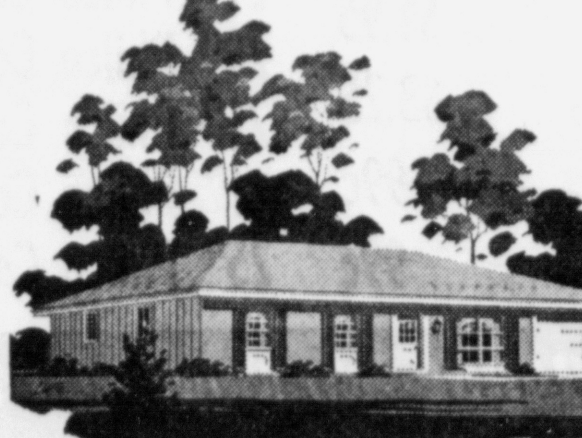

Although definite schedules are set up, the women may skip any part of the program.

"We're going to advise them, but we are not going to tell them what to do," Mrs. Richardson said. "They don't come here to be bossed."

The place is operated by Ne-man-Marcus, the Dallas department store known for its variety of merchandise ranging from $17,000 leopard coats to his-and-her submarines.

Effect of Bosch Return Soon to Dominica Eyed

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Hope and resentment are the problem children of the Dominican revolution.

Too much of both could hurt a difficult and costly reconstruction job which this once prosperous, now bankrupt little country can hardly handle alone.

Dominicans and foreigners who share this impression say these postrevolution factors will be accentuated by the return of ex-President Juan Bosch from his exile in Puerto Rico.

The author-raconteur who governed only seven months in 1963 is due back Saturday, second anniversary of the coup that ousted him and led to the violent upheaval.

To many partisans Bosch embodies the rosiest revolutionary hopes. To his enemies he means undiluted disaster.

Even among some of the ex-president's allies there are twinges of apprehension that he may return with an overdeveloped sense of bitterness and vengeance, products of his belief that both his 1963 ouster and the U.S. armed intervention in April were engineered in Washington, with local connivance, to deprive him of power.

Bosch has spoken scathingly of American performance in the Santo Domingo revolt.

"The United States will pay a high price for this blunder, and, in my opinion, it will be paid within our time," he wrote in the New Republic in July.

"When democratic nationalism is thwarted or strangled, it becomes a breeding ground for communism. I am certain the use of force by the United States in the Dominican Republic will produce more Communists in Santo Domingo and in Latin America than all the propaganda of Russia, China and Cuba combined."

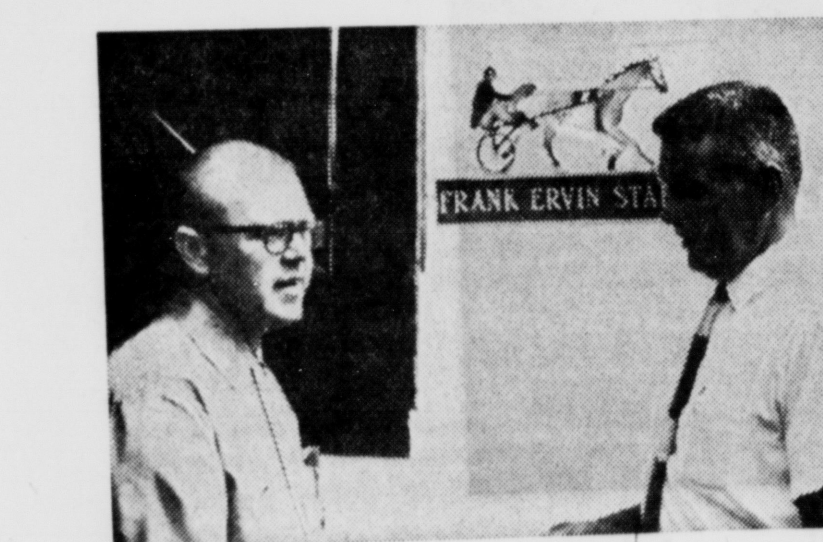

Some politically prominent Dominicans, on the left and right, agree in varying measure with Bosch's conclusions as to the end effects of American intervention.

The threat of communism is very real to conservative Dominicans and to some foreign observers who reported abundant signs of it among the rebels.

An acknowledged numerical minority, the three Castro-Communist factions in the country supported the revolutionary forces. Those who discount their influence or importance cite the inability of far left leaders, despite access to the only propaganda media in the rebel zone, to control political important offices or to block the Organization of American States peace formula to which they violently objected.

Nonetheless, the consensus is that the April revolution stimulated class consciousness and anti-U.S. sentiment on which local Marxism has thrived.

Merits Are Seen In Racing Card At Pumpkin Show

Among the many Circleville harness fans at the Little Brown Jug in Delaware yesterday was John Fissell, speed secretary of the Pickaway County Fair.

Looking over the crowd of more than 40,000 people, Fissell said, "I'll never rest until Circleville can come up with a race similar to the Jug."

A big stake race at the Pickaway oval has long been a dream of the hardworking speed secretary. But opponents of racing are quick to point to the sparse crowd afternoon harness racing draws at the County Fair.

Fissell firmly believes, however, that Circleville and Pickaway County are more than capable of supporting a top racing card.

AN INNOVATION the young harness enthusiast would like to see started is an afternoon racing program in conjunction with the Pumpkin Show.

Fissell builds a strong argument in favor of a Pumpkin Show race card.

"Racing in Ohio ends with the Lancaster Fair the week before Pumpkin Show," he explains. "A week of racing during the local event would give the harness horsemen a final stop in the Buckeye State before heading further south or before quitting until the season starts in the spring."

Vocational Education Plan In Area Schools Studied

A study is under way which may result in the establishment of a joint vocational education program for Pickaway County and Circleville schools.

Fritz Jacobs, superintendent of city schools, was named chairman of the local survey during an initial meeting yesterday with city and county educational leaders, as well as representatives of the State Department of Education.

Jacobs said the survey, which will be conducted from now until the first of November, will determine the need and feasibility of a combined district for vocational education purposes.

Information gathered by committees appointed yesterday will be submitted to the State Department for analysis following a meeting on Nov. 8. A written recommendation will be returned to the city and county school boards as to the need and feasibility of a combined district for vocational purposes, based upon information gathered.

FIVE committees appointed in the areas of vocational education will be headed locally by Gene Houser of Teays Valley in agricultural education; Dow West of Logan Elm, in business and office education; Herbert Barrett of Circleville, in distributive education; Mrs. Joanna Kister of Westfall, in home economics; Stan Spring of Circleville, in trade and industrial education; James Brown, Teays Valley, and Richard Fisher, Circleville, in the area of guidance.

Each of the committee heads will work in association with a representative of the State Department. Also, Jacobs will be working with a chairman from the State Department, Mr. Bernard Nye.

George McDowell, county superintendent of schools, executive heads and other officials will work with committees in a consulting capacity.

Wildcat Coal Strike Is Spreading

POWHATAN POINT, Ohio (AP)—A massive wildcat strike against coal mines in this three-state Ohio River Valley area continued to grow today as three more mines joined at least 22 others closed down by roving pickets.

More than 11,000 miners in Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania have been idled by the walkout.

Three mines in Marion County, W. Va., two owned by Bethlehem Steel Corp. and another operated by Rochester and Pennsylvania Coal Corp., closed down late Thursday night when workers refused to cross picket lines. Some 1,150 men are employed at the three mines.

Operations at six other West Virginia mines near Morgantown and Clarksburg were halted earlier Thursday by roving pickets.

The strike continued to spread despite repeated urgings by United Mine Workers officials for an end to the unauthorized walkout.

The strike began Sept. 7 following the firing of six workers at the Hanna Coal Co.'s Ireland Mine in Moundsville, W. Va.

$1.7 Billion Poverty Bill Debated in Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate is expected to wrap up congressional approval today of a bill authorizing President Johnson to spend $1,785,000,000 to fight poverty on several fronts.

First however, several Republicans planned to criticize the dropping of a provision that would have restricted politicians' participation in the anti-poverty programs.

The House passed the compromise measure Thursday, and Senate Republicans concede they don't have the votes to block final action.

The bill extends Johnson's antipoverty programs for a second year, authorizing him to spend twice the money spent in 1964. The actual cash for this second year will be supplied before Congress adjourns in an appropriation measure.

The authorization bill eliminates state governors' veto power over three antipoverty programs — community action, neighborhood youth corps and adult education.

That is, the governors can still reject the programs but the head of the Office of Economic Opportunity, Sargent Shriver, can override the governors.

The Senate earlier in the session voted a flat ban on governors' vetoes, but the House insisted on the procedure now in the bill. It was put there by Senate and House conferees who compromised the differences in the Senate and House versions of the legislation.

The conferees also eliminated a Senate provision applying the Hatch Act, which forbids political activity on the part of federal employees, to officials in the community action and Vista programs whose salaries are paid in large part with federal funds.

"Vista" stands for Volunteers in Service to America, also sometimes called the domestic Peace Corps.

Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., one of the sponsors of this provision, and other Republican senators said that they would discuss the political matter at length before permitting a final vote.

These are the allotments for the second year of the program contained in the final bill: $270 million for Job Corps camps; $370 million for the neighborhood Youth Corps; $60 million for a work-study program for college students; $700 million for locally developed community action programs; $150 million for a new program of aid to unemployed adults.

Also: $55 million to aid migrant workers and to make loans in rural areas; $150 million for work experience programs to help families on the welfare rolls; $20 million for the Vista program, and $10 million for administration.

A shuttlebus service between the downtown area and the Fairgrounds could provide transportation to and from the races, Fissell feels.

The idea has unofficially been broached to some members of the Pumpkin Show Board of directors. It has met with a favorable reaction, Fissell pointed out.

Local Baha'i Group Lists Weekly Thought

The following is from Baha'i teachings: "The Baha'i Faith brings the great power of spirit to bear upon man's every-day affairs. Nothing in human activity is purely secular. The pattern for a new world order is suffused with spirit."

"Baha'ullah foresaw that without travail and suffering humanity would not arrive at such a prevalence of spirit in human motivation. We are in the valley of suffering and confusion now; and Baha'is declare that we shall emerge only through the guidance and power of spirit."

3 Faiths Join To Build Chapel for Mentally Ill

WARREN, Pa. (AP) — Pioneering Protestants, Catholics and Jews are working for funds to build a mission center in a strange and dark country — the shadowland of the mentally ill.

What they have in mind is an interfaith chapel at Warren State Hospital in nearby North Warren.

Its function will be to serve the 2,500 mental patients of the hospital, who come from 13 western Pennsylvania counties. It will provide facilities for worship, religious education, and counseling for all three faiths.

It also will bring closer together two philosophies — religion and psychiatry.

Besides a large central chapel, the center will include offices and living quarters for resident chaplains, conference rooms, small chapels for each faith, cooking facilities, and a large fellowship and recreation hall.

The sponsors have engaged Arland Dirlam of Boston, a well-known church architect, to design the center. Now they must raise $600,000 in the area served by the hospital to make their plans come true. The state will provide the land for the center, but by law cannot provide funds for such projects.

The hospital's patients range in age from 6 to over 90. Some 1,200 patients are admitted each year and the rate of cure among new cases under 60 years of age is 93 per cent.

Rally Day Planned By EUB Churches

Churches in the Pickaway EUB Charge, which are Ringgold, Pontious, Morris and Dresbach, will observe Rally Day during Sunday School and the Worship service Sept. 26, Oct. 3 and Oct. 10.

All new Sunday School students will be enrolled by Oct. 10. The pastor, the Rev. Richard Frasure, extends an invitation to newcomers in the community to attend.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

We have newer and finer schools than ever before. This is one of the marks of progress.

But another is that we have more and faster automobiles than ever before.

So we guard each "school zone" with signs and safety patrols and policemen and volunteers. We do this to protect our children from the dangers of progress, while they are enjoying the fruits of progress.

The dangers of progress are not always physical. Many are moral. They threaten the character and faith of a rising generation, caught in the erratic tempo of modern life.

Happily, in every community of our land, PARENTS and CHURCHES are joining hands to promote the spiritual development of youth... to protect the souls of our children.

Johnson Signs $1 Billion School Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed Thursday a bill providing money for the new school aid program and called on local officials and teachers to translate "the vision of this law into the vitality of our country's education system."

As he signed the bill providing over $1 billion for federal aid to elementary and secondary schools, Johnson said the federal government could not do the job alone. "The main task now lies with the local school boards, with the parents and teachers, with the state school superintendents and the state education commissioners," Johnson said.

"To you, I say: Act now. Get your plans made. Open your schools to the promise of these new programs."

Johnson said the bill would "reach out to 5.5 million children held behind their more fortunate schoolmates by the dragging anchor of poverty."

The bill includes $775 million for grants to local school districts to upgrade the education of children from poor families;

$100 million for grants to purchase textbooks and library materials; $75 million for supplementary educational centers, $25 million for educational research, and $17 million to strengthen state education departments.

Baltimore Jail Bans Laundry by Inmates

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Prisoners at the Baltimore County Jail in suburban Towson have been ordered to quit washing their own clothing.

Warden Stanley J. Foster Jr., said wet clothing hanging over cell bars made the jail look "like a Chinese laundry." He told prisoners to send their clothes to the jail laundry or send them home with visiting friends.

Miami Zoo Is Damaged By Hurricane Betsy

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Gordon Hubbell, director of Crandon Park Zoo, says about 25 per cent of the zoo's birds and animals were victims of Hurricane Betsy's flood waters and post-storm ailments.

Growing in Love

GOD'S LOVE FOR US INSPIRES OUR LOVE FOR HIM
AND OUR FELLOWMAN

Scripture—I John 4:7-8, 11.

By R. H. RAMSEY

THE FIRST Epistle of John is often referred to as his "love letter to the great family of God." Addressed to the Church at large, it seems to be a statement from the glorious company of the apostles of Christ to the congregations of Christendom.

In tone and style his letter soars above most of the Epistles. The writing is lofty, poetic, unified. Starting from the premise that "God is love," it tells us that, as children of God, we must love one another as God in Christ has loved us.

Love is of such nature that love for God and love for man are inseparable. Herein is the very heart of God's requirements, for we are enjoined to love God with heart, soul, strength and mind, and to love our neighbors as ourselves. Thus Jesus summarized the law (Lev. 21:18) in his replies to the Sadducees (Matt. 22:37-39) and the scribes (Mark 12:30, 31), and the opening verse assigned to our lesson concurs with this new commandment given by Jesus.

In highlighting the doctrine that "God is love," John has another "and" if we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and His love is perfected in us."

Having set forth his thoughts on human and divine love, John turns to the reasons whereby a man may know that he is living in the eternal life and love of God. His experience must meet very specific tests and he must be sure that he is living in tune with God's plan. The prime test is the indwelling of God's Spirit in our beings. This presence of God's Spirit in man's life is imperative for the Christ-centered life, and awareness of it is man's concrete example of our indwelling in Christ, and He in us.

A further test is man's confession of Jesus Christ as the Son of God. By the Spirit we are able to confess that "the Father sent the Son to be the Savior of the world," and when such a confession is made, God dwells in that man, and he in God.

John clarifies his definition of love by identifying it with Christ Himself, and relating true love of man for his fellowman with the divine fellowship, or "dwelling in God." Within this statement—at once com-made an outstanding contribution to Christian theology. God is love and can be known by us only as love. "In this," he says, "the love of God was made manifest among us, that God sent His only Son into the world, so that we might live through Him." This was John's thesis, and such a profound truth led him to his natural conclusions concerning human and divine love.

His analysis begins on the note of loving one another. We are to love one another, "for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God." John's primary concern was that the readers of his Epistle should come to see the vast implications of this truth that God is love; and should, in turn, love their neighbors even as God first loves us. This love of God was shed abroad in the world as God sent His only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through Him. The purpose of God's gift is clear: He sent His Son "to be the propitiation for our sins." This purpose led John's thoughts to the logical conclusion: "If God so loved us, we ought also to love one another."

Johnson Signs $1 Billion School Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson signed Thursday a bill providing money for the new school aid program and called on local officials and teachers to translate "the vision of this law into the vitality of our country's education system."

As he signed the bill providing over $1 billion for federal aid to elementary and secondary schools, Johnson said the federal government could not do the job alone. "The main task now lies with the local school boards, with the parents and teachers, with the state school superintendents and the state education commissioners," Johnson said. "To you, I say: Act now. Get your plans made. Open your schools to the promise of these new programs."

Johnson said the bill would "reach out to 5.5 million children held behind their more fortunate schoolmates by the dragging anchor of poverty." The bill includes $775 million for grants to local school districts to upgrade the education of children from poor families;

$100 million for grants to purchase textbooks and library materials; $75 million for supplementary educational centers, $25 million for educational research, and $17 million to strengthen state education departments.

Boy Scouting Is Beneficial To Youths and Community

WHERE THE ACTION IS — These lads are typical of the abundant opportunity for Boy Scout activity in Pickaway County. The objective of Scouting is to build character, physical fitness and citizenship. This goal is achieved in large part through splendid support provided by the Pickaway County Community Fund and the hundreds of people who annually contribute to the campaign.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of a series of articles designed to acquaint residents of Pickaway County with the functions of Community Fund participating agencies. The campaign this year will be conducted Sept. 25 to Oct. 10. The goal is $40,000.

By DENNIS BLECHA
Scouting is "where the action is," to paraphrase a popular jingle.

Certainly, boys 8-18 are active and Scouting, supported through the Community Fund, provides and directs useful activities beneficial to both the youth and the community. And Dad can be proud of the things his boy can and will do in Scouting.

The goal of the Scouting movement is to build character, physical fitness and citizenship through worthwhile activities which results in boys being more self-reliant and better citizens. How does the Pickaway District provide these activities?

Scouting has a program tailor-made for boys 8 years of age through high school, specifically designed for their needs and interests. Cub Scouting, for boys 8-11, emphasizes home and family.

THOSE 11-17 participate in the Scouting program which emphasizes personal growth and self-reliance. While their son progresses from Tenderfoot to Eagle, parents watch him grow from a boy to a young man.

Explorer Scouting is for high school age boys with their own special interests in mind. An adult supervisor is always near to advise without running the program. Parents see their sons become young men, aware of the world and its opportunities.

Twenty-six active Scout units in the Pickaway District provide programs for boys in all parts of the county. Units are located in Williamsport, Ashville, South Bloomfield, Atlanta, Circleville, New Holland, Darby, Tarlton, Walnut Twp. and Commercial Point.

More than 1,100 boys and adults participated last year, with more than 850 still active in Scouting. This is a 12 per cent increase over last year.

In what other ways does the Pickaway District Scouting program provide the "action" for boys? By doing things under adult guidance to bring out qualities of citizenship, character and physical fitness. Let's list a few things Scouts in the Pickaway District have done this year.

Last fall, the "action" started out big with more than 100 Scouts actively participating in the 1964 Pumpkin Show. Planning for the 1964 show participation is already underway.

CAMP PINE, near Washington Court House, was the scene of the Fall Frontier Round-up which took place on Oct. 30 - 31-Nov. 1, 1964. Ninety boys and leaders were present.

Boy Scout Week, Feb. 7-13, 1965, saw the Scouts active in church services and the Cubs holding their annual Blue and Gold dinner. Right on the heels of spring, the Spring Camporee, held on May 21-23, 1965 at Cross Mound State Park near Tarlton provided adventure for 150 Scouts and adult advisers.

Responsible citizenship was displayed by the Scouts when they instituted an Auto Safety Check for more than 300 cars last May in cooperation with the Circleville and Ashville Kiwanis.

The coming of summer provided the fuse for activities to burst out all over. Troops 52, 170, 205, 155 and 484 attended Council camps. Over the past several months, two

Preliminary Hearing May Face Ohio Girl

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP) — A preliminary hearing is being sought for Dixie Lee Radcliff, 16-year-old Amesville, Ohio, girl accused of participating in the murder of two men.

William Egan, the girl's court-appointed attorney, filed the request Thursday with Justice of the Peace James F. Rierly.

"Dixie hasn't waived a preliminary, and by law she is entitled to have one," Egan said.

There was no indication how soon Rierly will rule on the petition.

Egan said he may also demand that a grand jury indictment be returned before the girl goes to trial.

A grand jury convenes Oct. 7 to consider indictments against Donald Boggs, 23, an ex-convict from Londonderry, Ohio, who also has been charged on two counts of murder. He waived a preliminary hearing.

Boggs and Dixie are accused in the fatal shooting Sept. 7 of Robert Willis, 23, and Halvor Johnson, 28, both of Newport, N.H.

Superior Court Judge Laurence T. Wren ordered Dixie tried as an adult following a juvenile hearing Wednesday.

The girl's father, the Rev. Pearl Radcliff, called the ruling an injustice. "She's just a child, a very young child," he said.

District level camping trips were held with 187 campers participating.

On the local unit level, 67 camping trips were made involving 806 boys and leaders. The Central Ohio Council Paul Bunyon Exposition saw 194 Pickaway District Scouts show their skills.

Scouting was again well represented at the Pickaway County Fair this year, and 185 Scouts were in eight parades throughout Pickaway County. That's a lot of "action."

BESIDES being much fun, these activities provided opportunities for 603 boys to work on and advance their skills of character, citizenship, self-reliance and physical fitness as evidenced by 265 Advancement Records being held.

On the District level, G. Ninde Lawson, Gerald Ayres, Hewitt Harmount, Charles Lloyd, John Count, David Schneider and Ben Brian are the men helping James Farinet, District Scout Executive, bring worthwhile activities for your boys participation. Let's not forget the 26 cubmasters, scoutmasters and Explorer advisers of the unit nearest you — they put the "action" in the activities.

Boys need Scouting — Scouting needs boys. Support both in a big way with Community Fund dollars.

Don't Knock Zloch, Says Notre Dame's Front Line

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The second chapter in Notre Dame's Era of Ara could be called Don't Knock Zloch. And, with the offensive line Coach Ara Parseghian has assembled in front of his quarterback, knocking Bill Zloch could become quite a problem for any team playing the Irish this year.

Zloch is the quarterback who spent all but five minutes of last season watching John Huarte guide Notre Dame to a 9-1 record. Now Huarte's gone and Zloch is Parseghian's signal caller.

Ara has put plenty of punch in front of 6-foot-3 senior. The Irish front seven anchored by 240-pound Tom Regner at one of the guards, averages almost 230-pounds per man.

They opened plenty of holes for Zloch and halfbacks Bill Wolski and Nick Eddy last week as the Irish zoomed into first place in The Associated Press' Top Ten with a 48-6 romp over California.

And it's a cinch they opened plenty of eyes among Purdue's coaching staff when the films of the rout were shown to the Boilermakers, who face Notre Dame in Saturday's top college football game.

Purdue averages about 215 in both offensive and defensive lines and Coach Jack Mollenkopf admits that the heavier Irish have perhaps the strongest blocking unit in their history.

But the sixth-ranked Boilermakers have a top notch passing combination in quarterback Bob Griese and end Bob Hardrick, one of the Big Ten's best batteries. And Purdue was mighty impressive in its opening game rout of Miami of Ohio, winning 38-0.

The football weekend kicks off tonight with winless Houston entertaining Cincinnati in the Astrodome at Houston. The Cougars have failed to score in each of their two setbacks and Cincinnati whipped Dayton in its opener, 26-0 holding the Flyers to 79 yards total offense and minus one on the ground.

All the teams in the Top Ten see action Saturday. Second-ranked Nebraska plays the Air Force Academy and Coach Bob Devaney tapered off the Cornhuskers workouts concentrating on goal line stands. "We hope we don't have to use that defense too often," Devaney grinned.

No. 3 Texas takes on Texas Tech at Austin and hopes to duplicate the 31-0 thumping it handed Tulane in last week's opener. Fourth-ranked Michigan opens its home season against California with halfback Jim Detwiler, who scored two touchdowns in the 31-24 triumph over North Carolina, sidelined.

Arkansas, No. 5 in the poll, entertains Tulsa and seventh-ranked Louisiana State is at home to Rice. Coach Charlie McLendon, running the Bayou Tigers through their final practice before the game, said "our play execution was as good as it has been this year."

Florida, eighth-ranked, plays Mississippi State, Syracuse, No. 9 hosts Miami of Florida, and Kentucky, No. 10, plays Mississippi at home.

Ohio Rocket Racer Fails To Set Mark

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP)—Walt Arfons said today he would need more engine power to break the sound barrier in his rocket racer.

His Wingfoot Express, with 1,000 pounds of thrust, got close to the 500 mile - an - hour mark during a test run on these western Utah Salt Flat Thursday.

But that's a long way from the speed of sound - about 725 m.p.h.—and still under the 536-71 m.p.h. world land speed record set by his younger brother, Art, in a jet-powered car last year.

All 15 of the 1,000 - pound thrust rockets in the Wingfoot Express were fired - seven of them to start and the other eight within a second.

The average speed for the measured mile, from a standing start, was 247.9 m.p.h. For the last 2,000 feet of the mile the average was 403.40 m.p.h.

Driver Bob Tatroe, 28, of Grand Rapids, Mich., said the

Rookies Help Redlegs in Pennant Race

CINCINNATI (AP) — Four rookies on the Cincinnati Reds' roster have contributed materially to help Manager Dick Sisler's crew in the torrid National League pennant race.

The third-place Reds leave for Houston this weekend 3½ games behind first place San Francisco, owe special victories to rookies Ted Davidson, Art Shamsky, Tony Perez and Tom Helms.

Helms is the only one who was called up as the minor league season neared its end. The slim 24-year-old infielder has batted at a .400 clip since reporting to the Reds a month ago. He has driven in six runs.

Shamsky, batting .292, has been with the Reds all season. The outfielder has been used mostly as a pinch hitter and has two home runs and 10 RBI. First baseman Tony Perez has had several game-winning hits and is batting .29 with 12 homers and 46 RBI.

Davidson was called up from San Diego July 22 and since then has compiled a 4-3 pitching record while lightening some of the load on the Reds' bullpen. Other newcomers on the Reds' roster are pitcher Darrell Osteen, first baseman Lee May and catcher Tom Tishinski. The Reds also recalled outfielder Mel Queen, who played for them last season.

The Reds rested Thursday and today prior to their final nine-game road trip to Houston, Los Angeles and San Francisco. They play the Astros Saturday night.

Cleveland State To Play Soccer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland State University, which has neither a president nor a football team, launches its initial sports season Saturday and the major fall sport will be soccer.

The fledgling school took over the student body and facilities of Fenn College in downtown Cleveland this year. It also took over Fenn's sports schedule, which includes basketball but not football.

Sugar Wins Bout, Prefers Broadway

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson, five-time world middleweight champion, pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over Young Joe Walcott Thursday night, but after the fight he seemed more interested in talking about a new career in acting.

Robinson, also former welterweight champion, is now 44 and his halcyon days as ruler of the lighter weights are a golden memory.

Robinson, who turned showman as a song and dance man for a while, said he plans to make two movies in the next six months. And he said, he's agreed to appear on Broadway for a brief spell.

1:54 Mile May Be Bret's Next Target

DELAWARE, Ohio (AP) — What next for Bret Hanover, the Buckeye-owned colt who is one race away from pacing's Triple Crown?

Maybe a 1:54 mile—at least that's what trainer-driver Frank Ervin thinks. Ervin was talking about fabulous Bret Thursday after he guided the bay colt to impressive straight heat victories in the $70,000 Little Brown Jug for 3-year-old pacers.

"I think he can pace in 1:54 on a good mile track," the Orlando, Fla., driver said after the sophomore sidwheeler had cracked two world marks. "I'm glad we broke the record... it was the greatest race I ever won," Ervin remarked. The fleet son of Adios, owned by Richard Downing of Shaker Heights, Ohio, swept the first heat with a record 1:57 clocking over the Delaware Fairgrounds half-mile oval.

Bret came back an hour later to capture the second heat, this time in 1:57 2-5. His combined times for the two heats — 3:54 2-5 — were a world record for a pacer in a race over a half-mile track.

Both former standards were set by Overtrick in 1963 when he won the Jug in 1:57 1-5 and posted a combined time in two heats of 3:54 4-5.

Bret's victory here gave him the first two legs of pacing's Triple Crown. He won the Cane Futurity earlier and needs the Messenger Stakes Nov. 19 in

New York City to become the second horse to ever make the sweep.

Adios Butler accomplished the feat in 1959.

A record Jug crowd of 41,200 voiced its approval as Ervin, driving Bret beautifully, took command at the halfway mark and copped the first heat by 3¼ lengths over Tuxedo Hanover. Rivaltime was third.

Ervin whipped Bret in the second heat, this time taking control at the quarter pole and scoring by two lengths.

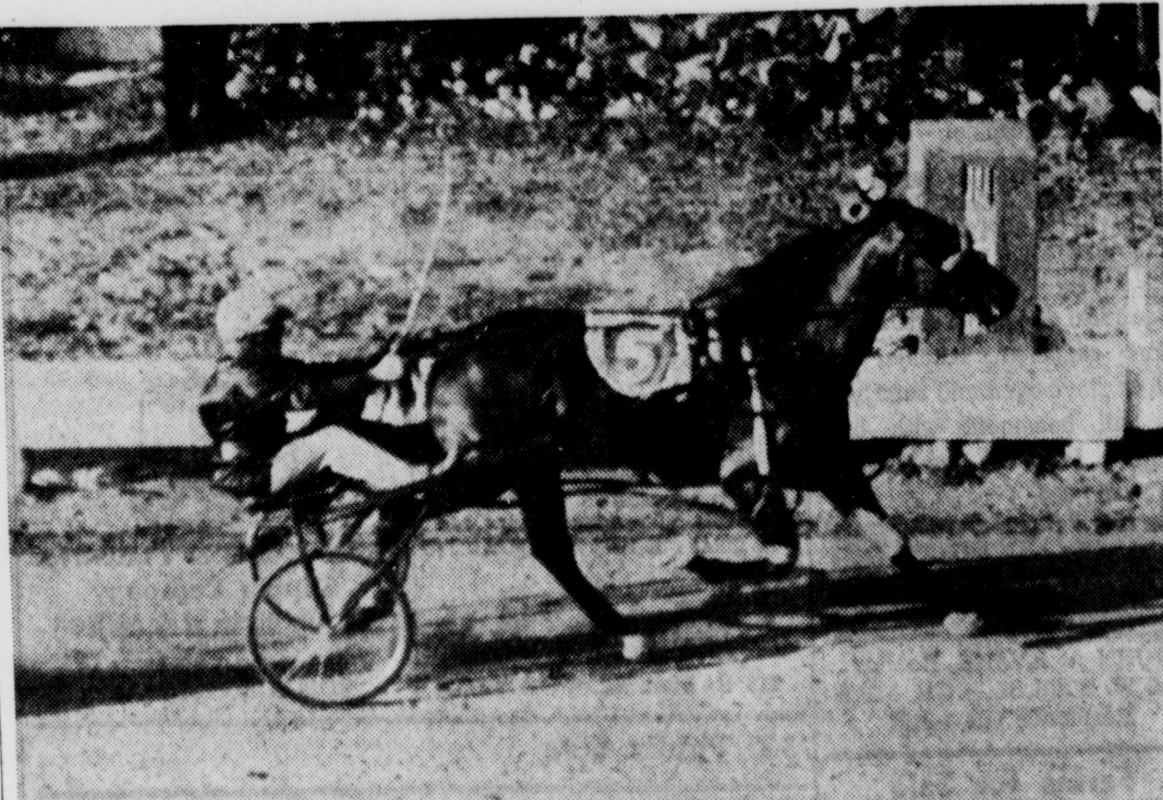

Tuxedo Hanover, with cagey Curly Smart in the sulky, was the only horse in the small field of seven to seriously challenge Bret, finishing second again. Gee Lee Hanover was third. Adios Vic, rated the best among the contenders, finished a disappointing fourth in both heats.

Adios Vic holds three victories over Bret, the only setbacks suffered by the 1964 Harness Horse of the year in 45 starts.

The Jug triumph, worth $39,200 to Bret's owner, padded his two-year earnings to $420,403.

JUG CHAMP — Bret Hanover eclipsed all Little Brown Jug records on the one-half mile oval yesterday at the Delaware County Fairgrounds, winning successive heats of the race in 1:57 and 1:57 2-5. Many Circleville harness horse enthusiasts were on hand to watch the fabulous son of Adios easily outdistance the field under the capable driving of the veteran, Frank Ervin. Cleveland's Fred Whitfield Trips Yanks

DETROIT (AP) — There are two hitters in the American League who give the New York Yankees a lot of trouble, and one of them, moaned Manager Johnny Keane, is Fred Whitfield of Cleveland.

"He always could hit," Keane said before Thursday's game, and Whitfield underscored the statement by slamming a homer — his 23rd of the season and ninth against Yankee pitching — to start the Indians toward a 2-1 victory.

The second-inning homer off Jim Bouton went into the second deck, a little farther than the one he hit Wednesday night off Whitey Ford.

The Indians added another run in the third. Dick Howser walked, moved to third on Leon Wagner's single and Archie Moore's error, and scored on an infield out.

Sonny Siebert pitched a fine game, but tired in the late innings and was replaced by Gary Bell in the eighth. Siebert struck out 10 and yielded only one run to the Yankees. That run scored in the fourth on singles by Tom Tresh and Joe Pepitone and Jake Gibbs' sacrifice fly.

STEVE RICHARDSON

CHUCK STEVENS

Two Circleville linemen who have come into their own this year are Steve Richardson (93) and Chuck Stevens (61). Richardson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin K. Richardson, 119 N. Washington St., is a 5-11, 190 pound tackle. He scored a touchdown last week against Teays Valley, picking up a blocked punt. Stevens is a 5-11, 185-pound tackle. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Stevens, 106 Northridge Road.

Don't Knock Zloch, Says Notre Dame's Front Line

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The second chapter in Notre Dame's Era of Ara could be called Don't Knock Zloch.

And, with the offensive line Coach Ara Parseghian has assembled in front of his quarterback, knocking Bill Zloch could become quite a problem for any team playing the Irish this year.

Zloch is the quarterback who spent all but five minutes of last season watching John Huarte guide Notre Dame to a 9-1 record. Now Huarte's gone and Zloch is Parseghian's signal caller.

Ara has put plenty of punch in front of 6-foot-3 senior. The Irish front seven anchored by 240-pound Tom Regner at one of the guards, averages almost 230 pounds per man.

They opened plenty of holes for Zloch and halfbacks Bill Wolski and Nick Eddy last week as the Irish zoomed into first place in The Associated Press' Top Ten with a 48-6 romp over California.

And it's a cinch they opened plenty of eyes among Purdue's coaching staff when the films of the rout were shown to the Boilermakers, who face Notre Dame in Saturday's top college football game.

Purdue averages about 215 in both offensive and defensive lines and Coach Jack Mollenkopf admits that the heavier Irish have perhaps the strongest blocking unit in their history.

But the sixth-ranked Boilermakers have a top notch passing combination in quarterback Bob Griese and end Bob Harbrick, one of the Big Ten's best batteries. And Purdue was mighty impressive in its opening game rout of Miami of Ohio, winning 38-0.

The football weekend kicks off tonight with winless Houston entertaining Cincinnati in the Astrodome at Houston. The Cougars have failed to score in each of their two setbacks and Cincinnati whipped Dayton in its opener, 26-0 holding the Flyers to 79 yards total offense and minus one on the ground.

All the teams in the Top Ten see action Saturday. Second-ranked Nebraska plays the Air Force Academy and Coach Bob Devaney tapered off the Cornhuskers' workouts concentrating on goal line stands. "We hope we don't have to use that defense too often," Devaney grinned.

No. 3 Texas takes on Texas Tech at Austin and hopes to duplicate the 31-0 thumping it handed Tulane in last week's opener. Fourth-ranked Michigan opens its home season against California with halfback Jim Detwiler, who scored two touchdowns in the 31-24 triumph over North Carolina, sidelined.

Arkansas, No. 5 in the poll, entertains Tulsa and seventh-ranked Louisiana State is at home to Rice. Coach Charlie McLendon, running the Bayou Tigers through their final practice before the game, said "our play execution was as good as it has been this year."

Florida, eighth-ranked, plays Mississippi State, Syracuse, No. 9 hosts Miami of Florida, and Kentucky, No. 10, plays Mississippi at home.

Ohio Rocket Racer Fails To Set Mark

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP)—Walt Arfons said today he would need more engine power to break the sound barrier in his rocket racer.

His Wingfoot Express, with 1,000 pounds of thrust, got close to the 500 mile - an - hour mark during a test run on these western Utah Salt Flat Thursday.

But that's a long way from the speed of sound — about 725 m.p.h.—and still under the 536-71 m.p.h. world land speed record set by his younger brother, Art, in a jet-powered car last year.

All 15 of the 1,000 - pound thrust rockets in the Wingfoot Express were fired — seven of them to start and the other eight within a second.

The average speed for the measured mile, from a standing start, was 247.9 m.p.h. For the last 2,000 feet of the mile the average was 405.40 m.p.h.

Driver Bob Tatroe, 28, of Grand Rapids, Mich., said the

Rookies Help Redlegs in Pennant Race

CINCINNATI (AP) — Four rookies on the Cincinnati Reds' roster have contributed materially to help Manager Dick Sisler's crew in the torrid National League pennant race.

The third-place Reds leave for Houston this weekend 3½ games behind first place San Francisco, owe special victories to rookies Ted Davidson, Art Shamsky, Tony Perez and Tom Helms.

Helms is the only one who was called up as the minor league season neared its end. The slim 24-year-old infielder has batted at a .400 clip since reporting to the Reds a month ago. He has driven in six runs.

Shamsky, batting .292, has been with the Reds all season. The outfielder has been used mostly as a pinch hitter and has two home runs and 10 RBI. First baseman Tony Perez has had several game-winning hits and is batting .29 with 12 homers and 46 RBI.

Davidson was called up from San Diego July 22 and since then has compiled a 4-3 pitching record while lightening some of the load on the Reds' bullpen.

Other newcomers on the Reds' roster are pitcher Darrell Osteen, first baseman Lee May and catcher Tom Tishinski. The Reds also recalled outfielder Mel Queen, who played for them last season.

The Reds rested Thursday and today prior to their final nine-game road trip to Houston, Los Angeles and San Francisco. They play the Astros Saturday night.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my beloved wife, Eunice who passed away September 24th, 1964.
One year has passed since that sad
day.
When the one I loved was called away,
God took her home it was His will,
But in my heart she liveth still.
Sadly missed by Husband Lowell

AP Guesspert
Picks Cards
Over Browns

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Will the gentleman from Harmons, Md., who noted our pick of Minnesota to beat Baltimore and wrote on a clipping "Here eat it. You wrote it" please stand. We're picking against the Colts again.
The first week was rough going with 4-3 in the National Football League and 2-2 in the American Football League.
Here goes for another round of guesses: (All games Sunday unless otherwise noted):
National League
Green Bay 21, Baltimore 17 — Another blood battle. Colts won both games last year but the total margin was four points. Packers' balanced attack and solid defense against John Unitas and Lenny Moore. Always give Unitas a chance but Packers should win tight one.
Minnesota 21, Detroit 14 — Vikings will be hungry for red meat in home opener after loss to Colts. Harry Gilmer, former Van Brocklin assistant, shut out Rams but will find Vikings' Fran Tarkenton tough to handle.
San Francisco 28, Pittsburgh 10 — If John Brodie is hot again, watch out Steelers. Pittsburgh, struggling all through preseason, lost John Henry Johnson in opener against Packers. 49ers have good running attack and won't miss defensive end Da Colchico too much in this one.
St. Louis 28, Cleveland 27 — A wild one and the best chance for an upset. Cards must win to stay alive after ambush in Philadelphia. Browns' offense not overpowering in Washington. Cards beat Browns and tied them last year and think they can handle champs.
Dallas 17, Washington 10 — Cowboys' defense will make Sonny Jurgensen run for cover. Buddy Dial, Frank Clarke and Bob Hayes will put the heat on rookie Rick Harris in Redskins defense.
Philadelphia 28, New York 21 — Eagles clicked with everything against St. Louis and will blitz Earl Morrall into Franklin Field turf if Giants don't pick up red dogs. Tucker Frederickson on the draw might make it interesting but Eagles' Tim Brown will be too tough for green Giants to handle.
Los Angeles 14, Chicago 7 — Neither team showed any offense in opener although Bears broke through late in game after 49ers had rolled up big margin. Bears won exhibition game 28-14 with help of Gale Sayers' runbacks. Rams should be in bad mood after tongue lashing and mid-week shrimmage. Bill Munson will give Bears' pass defense a test.
American League
Boston 21, Denver 17 (Friday night) — After losing two in a row Pats must win in home opener if they expect to remain contenders. Babe Parilli has been way off and Pats will miss J. D. Garrett. Mike Holovak's blitz must handle Mickey Slaughter and Cookie Gilchrist. Logie says Denver but site has Boston.
Buffalo 28, New York 14 — Bills playing like real champions handled Jets 30-14 and 31-10 in preseason games. Weeb Ewbank ready to go to Joe Namath, his $400,000 rookie, after his strong effort in relief of Mike Taliaferro last week. Bills are too tough up front.
San Diego 28, Kansas City 14 — Chargers still without Keith Lincoln but rookie Gene Foster filling gap. San Diego can loaf the rest of the way if it beats its third straight Western Division rival.
Oakland 21, Houston 20 — Raiders bounce back from loss to San Diego and end Houston's all-winning season. Art Powell and rookie Rog Hagberg click while Raiders' pass defense stops George Blanda and the Fraier boys.

Cooler, Wet Summer
Noted by Weatherman
WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau reported the past summer was cooler and wetter than normal.
In June, July and August, temperatures in most parts of the country averaged about two degrees below normal. Only in small, scattered sections was it slightly warmer than normal, the bureau said.
The bureau's weekly crop bulletin said seasonal rainfall was above normal over more than half the country, although drought persisted in the Northeast.

Face Stern Competition

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State, Bowling Green and Ohio University face stern competition Saturday in the headliners of a 2-game Buckeye collegiate grid program.
The Buckeyes are rated two touchdowns better than North Carolina in their season opener but could be walking into a busaw.
The visiting Tar Heels gave Michigan a stiff challenge before bowing 31-24 last week.
Bowling Green, class of the Mid-American Conference, journeys westward for a game against West Texas State. The Texans were rude visitors to Ohio last week, dumping the Bobcats, 7-0. And Ohio, trying to rebound from that setback, may have chewed off too much by scheduling rugged Maryland.

Other features find Miami, a 38-0 loser to Purdue last week, playing host to Xavier, which hung a 21-14 loss to Kent State.
The Golden Flashes are likely to dent the win column with inexperienced Dayton the opposition at Kent.
—Cincinnati of the Missouri Valley Conference shoots for its second straight and gets the week rolling tonight with a game at Houston.
Toledo, which upset Villanova Saturday, will try more of the same in a home tilt against the Quantic Marines.

The 1-member Ohio Conference has some league frays on the agenda, highlighted by Otterbein's visit to Wittenberg Saturday night.
The others:
Mount Union at Capital; Hiram at Oberlin; Baldwin-Wallace at Muskingum (N); Earlham at Kenyon; Carnegie Tech at Wooster; Case at Thiel; Marietta at Susquehanna; Northwood at Central State; John Carroll at Washington & Jeff.

Giants, Twins
Pilots Promise
To Grab Titles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Herman Franks has made a promise: The San Francisco Giants will stay on top.
Sam Mele has made a promise: The Minnesota Twins will get a little higher.
The managers of the front-runners in the National and American League pennant races, seeing things through different situations, each had a day off Thursday to reflect on the final 10 days of the 1965 baseball season.
Franks, whose Giants hold a two-game lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers and a 3½-game bulge over third-place Cincinnati, had this to say:
"I think we go better when it's tight. We've fallen back 10 times before and we've always regrouped. This is the last time we're falling back. That's a promise."

The Giants, who have lost two in a row while the Dodgers have ripped off six straight victories, close out the season at home, beginning with a three-game set against Milwaukee tonight. Then they tangle with St. Louis before facing the Reds in a four-game windup.
Franks has tapped Ron Herbel, 10-7, to oppose Milwaukee's Tony Cloninger, 22-10, but has not revealed any pitching plans beyond that. Dodger Manager Walt Alton, on the other hand, has his three aces primed for a three-game set with St. Louis starting tonight.

Claude Osteen, 1-14, opens against Bob Gibson, 18-10, then 21-game winner Don Drysdale and 23-game winner Sandy Koufax take their turn. It's also likely the same rotation will be followed in a three-game series with Cincinnati and a windup four with Milwaukee.

The Reds, with most of their games left with the two leaders, first invade Houston for a two-game set starting Saturday night. Jim Maloney, shooting for victory No. 20, will get the Reds' final drive started.
The Twins, who have lost three straight but still lead Baltimore by eight games, were worried about only one thing as they prepared for a three-game series with Washington beginning tonight. And that was champagne.
The Twins, who need any combination of their victories or losses by the Orioles totaling three to clinch their first AL pennant, were set for a champagne celebration at Minnesota but ran into a three-game losing streak that delayed the bottle popping.

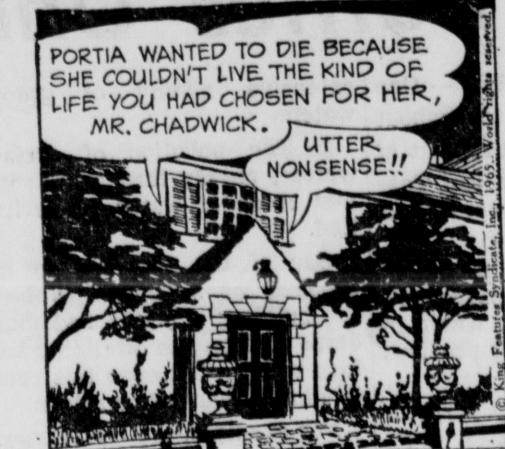

Now they've got to find a new batch of the fizzy stuff.
Baltimore meets California in a two-nighter with Steve Barber, 14-9, and Wally Bunker, 8-7, going against Jack Stanford, 5-6, and Marcelino Lope, 14-13.
If the Twins win and the Orioles lose two, it's all over.
Four games were played Thursday but none had a bearing on the pennant races.

In the National League, Philadelphia swept the Chicago Cubs 11- and 7-4 as Jim Bunning and Chris Short each posted victory No. 18. Bunning permitted 12 hits but held on for the decision over Larry Jackson, who became a 20-game loser. Short surrendered seven hits.
In the American League, Cleveland edged the New York Yankees 2-1 on Fred Whitfield's homer and a third inning run built on a walk, Leon Wagner's single, an error and a ground out.
Kansas City whipped Washington 8-7 with a three-run ninth inning rally in which Bill Bryan smacked a two-run triple and Randy Schwartz singled in the winning run.

Giants, Twins Pilots Promise To Grab Titles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Herman Franks has made a promise: The San Francisco Giants will stay on top.

Sam Mele has made a promise: The Minnesota Twins will get a little higher.

The managers of the front-runners in the National and American League pennant races, seeing things through different situations, each had a day off Thursday to reflect on the final 10 days of the 1965 baseball season.

Franks, whose Giants hold a two-game lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers and a 3½-game bulge over third-place Cincinnati, had this to say:

"I think we go better when it's tight. We've fallen back 10 times before and we've always regrouped. This is the last time we're falling back. That's a promise."

The Giants, who have lost two in a row while the Dodgers have ripped off six straight victories, close out the season at home, beginning with a three-game set against Milwaukee tonight. Then they tangle with St. Louis before facing the Reds in a four-game windup.

Franks has tapped Ron Herbel, 10-7, to oppose Milwaukee's Tony Cloninger, 22-10, but has not revealed any pitching plans beyond that. Dodger Manager Walt Alton, on the other hand, has his three aces primed for a three-game set with St. Louis starting tonight.

Claude Osteen, 1-14, opens against Bob Gibson, 18-10, then 21-game winner Don Drysdale and 23-game winner Sandy Koufax take their turn. It's also likely the same rotation will be followed in a three-game series with Cincinnati and a windup four with Milwaukee.

The Reds, with most of their games left with the two leaders, first invade Houston for a two-game set starting Saturday night. Jim Maloney, shooting for victory No. 20, will get the Reds' final drive started.

The Twins, who have lost three straight but still lead Baltimore by eight games, were worried about only one thing as they prepared for a three-game series with Washington beginning tonight. And that was champagne.

The Twins, who need any combination of their victories or losses by the Orioles totaling three to clinch their first AL pennant, were set for a champagne celebration at Minnesota but ran into a three-game losing streak that delayed the bottle popping.

Now they've got to find a new batch of the fizzy stuff.

Baltimore meets California in a two-tigher with Steve Barber, 14-9, and Wally Bunker, 8-7, going against Jack Stanford, 5-6, and Marcelino Lope, 14-13.

If the Twins win and the Orioles lose two, it's all over. Four games were played Thursday but none had a bearing on the pennant races.

In the National League, Philadelphia swept the Chicago Cubs 11- and 7-4 as Jim Bunning and Chris Short each posted victory No. 18. Bunning permitted 12 hits but held on for the decision over Larry Jackson, who became a 20-game loser. Short surrendered seven hits.

In the American League, Cleveland edged the New York Yankees 2-1 on Fred Whitfield's homer and a third inning run built on a walk, Leon Wagner's single, an error and a ground out.

Kansas City whipped Washington 8-7 with a three-run ninth inning rally in which Bill Bryan smacked a two-run triple and Randy Schwartz singled in the winning run.

Information Of Interest To Veterans

(Veterans and their dependents who may have any questions concerning any benefits from the Veterans Administration should bring their questions to James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer. His office is located in the basement of the County Court House).

There is no doubt in my mind, said James P. Shea, Pickaway County Veterans Service Officer, that many veterans may be shocked at the result of a survey recently conducted by the Veterans Administration, when it chose a representative sample of GI insurance policy holders and mailed microfilm copies of the names of the beneficiaries listed as part of their policy records.

The VA asked the veterans: is this list correct for your situation today? And of those who replied, 49 per cent said "No" and one-third changed the principal beneficiary as a result of the VA query.

This is pretty serious business, said Shea. The VA hopes that all veterans who have GI insurance will take the lesson to heart. Is your beneficiary list up to date? Think it over.

Forms can be secured at the County Veterans Service office located in the basement of the Court House.

Be sure, Shea concluded, that you are protecting those you want protected.

West Battles Unusual Water Problem

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — One of the standard jokes throughout the arid and semiarid regions of the West is about the sad Texan: He drilled for water, but struck oil.

West of the 100th meridian, which just about divides the United States in half, water in places is sometimes as precious as oil.

There is a seemingly perpetual feud among the states, especially in the Colorado River Basin, over water allocations.

The quality of the water being delivered across the border at Yuma has troubled U.S. relations with Mexico.

In brief, the West has water problems generally unknown in the East except at times of severe drought. They can best be summarized as:

1. A scarcity of surface waters which has resulted in extensive mining of ground waters.

2. The pollution of surface waters, chiefly through the use and reuse of water for irrigation.

One of the solutions to the problem of scarcity has been the building of dams and more dams to trap the available surface waters, but even this practice has a point of no return.

For example, the U.S. Geological Survey notes that to increase the storage capacity on the main stream of the Colorado River from 30 million acre feet to the planned 66 million acre feet "will result in only a small net increase in water supply as evaporation will increase by nearly as much as the increase in water supply."

The Pacific Southwest is a prime example of man's stubbornness, of his determination to live and prosper in what is essentially a hostile climate.

The Salt River Valley in which Phoenix is located is a case in point. There are now close to a million people in the valley. Two-thirds of the water comes from 2,500 wells, the rest from the Salt River, fed by rains in the hills to the north. Technically, the Salt River Valley is desert country.

In making the desert flower hereabouts, however, water accumulated over thousands of years is being mined from underground reservoirs, called aquifers, by geologists.

H. R. Skibitzke, head of the U.S. Geological Survey office here, said in an interview that the valley uses three million acre feet of water annually—and only one million, approximately comes from surface waters.

Further, Skibitzke said, the waters in the underground reservoirs are not being replaced naturally.

Skibitzke said the waters available in the valley could probably support about four million people indefinitely—if agriculture was abandoned.

What is going on in the Salt River Valley is being repeated in varying degree throughout the high plains which stretch from the sand hills of Nebraska well into Texas.

In the plains section of Texas, ground water is being pumped at the rate of five million acre feet a year, while the natural recharge of the aquifer is about 50,000 to 75,000 acre feet.

When water is applied to soil through irrigation, it leaves behind mineral salts. Sooner or later, the soil becomes salt laden and is ruined—unless it can be flushed.

And when the land is flushed the waters run back into a stream carrying the offending salts along with them.

Pollution is a many-faceted thing, in brief, and in cleaning up the nation's waters agriculture must also be considered, especially in the West.
